

TRIBUNE'S REFUSAL TO "RETRACT" STORY COPIED FROM LA FOLLETTE'S FOLLOWED BY SERVICE OF COMPLAINT IN $50,000 SUIT FILED BY GORDON FOR CANDIDATE PHILIPP

FROM ALL OVER THE STATE COME OFFERS OF HELP AND MESSAGES OF GOOD WILL FOR THE TRIBUNE

All Comments Received By The Paper Indicate General Belief That The Tribune Is Point Of Attack In Raid By Big Business On Freedom Of Press

PROCEEDING IS EXTRAORDINARY Ignores Big Magazine From Which TRIBUNE Quoted Article With- out Even a Protest To Its Publishers

Through George H. Gordon, his attorney, Emanuel Philipp, republican candidate for governor, today served upon A. M. Brayton, editor, summons and complaint in a suit for alleged libel, against the La Crosse Tribune company.

The Complaint.

The complaint sets forth matter purporting to be the business and personal status of Mr. Philipp, that he is the republican nominee for governor; it describes "The Tribune as a newspaper of wide and general circulation in western Wisconsin; it contains matter in identification of the editor, and then proceeds to quote the article of which complaint is made, which is described as having been "maliciously" published, and "intended to affect the voting."

Following, the complaint declares that Mr. Philipp has been "greatly injured in his reputation and good name, to his damage in the sum of fifty thousand ($50,000) dollars."

Was La Follette Article.

The facts concerning the publication are as follows: The article of which complaint was made was published over Senator La Follette's signature in La Follette's Magazine for the week of October eighteenth. The Tribune copied it verbatim, publishing it over La Follette's signature in the issue of Friday, October twenty-third.

On the afternoon of Monday, October twenty-sixth, at about 2:30 o'clock, a young man in the office of Gordon and Law served formal notice upon The Tribune that unless a complete and full retraction were immediately published, a suit for libel would be instituted. Mr. Brayton, the editor, was absent from the city, a fact with which, it is said, the attorneys were familiar. The newspaper was practically made up for the day, but the feasibility of making the correction that very day was urged upon Manager Burgess, with significant insistence.

The retraction has not been published.

Odd!

It is particularly significant that Philipp has not directed his threats against the paper which first published the charges against him, which stands sponsor for these charges and has at hand the records in the matter.

Philipp has not demanded a retraction from La Follette's Magazine.

Philipp has not threatened to sue La Follette's Magazine.

Philipp has not written letters to La Follette's Magazine.

Philipp has not telephoned to La Follette's.

Philipp has not sent a messenger to La Follette's.

"Great Expectations."

Although the story of Mr. Philipp's action did not appear in any newspaper, there was a stir of excitement about town. The stalwart leaders were in on the choice secret. There was exultation in the ranks of the faithful. Eagerly they waited for the appearance of The Tribune.

It appeared, and disappointment that it contained no retraction was followed by expectancy for the next forthcoming issue. There was much talk and to-do in political circles, and it is said men were waiting with camera and zinc ready to rush forth the campaign document that would litter the state.

It was a chop-fallen crowd of stalwart celebrities who in vain searched Tuesday night's Tribune for the retraction. It was not there. Excepting for a story of the legal notice to retract, which appeared in the columns of an evening paper, there was no morsel for the faithful.

Rally to Tribune's Support.

Never in the history of The Tribune had there been such a day of telephone calls and telegrams as Tuesday proved to be. The story had gone out over the state. Assurances of good will and offers of help came from every quarter. There was but one tenor to all these messages. It was that an attack had been made upon free speech, that Big Business had made a raid on the liberty of the press, that intimidation was become the off-spring of subsidy. In a day an incident in the day's work of The Tribune had become a vital issue in the affairs of the commonwealth of Wisconsin.

GARRANZA REFUSES TO SUBMIT TO THE CONFERENCE PLAN

HE THREATENS TO USE HIS ARMY
Declares that if Zapata and Villa Do Not Retire to Private Life He Will Open War

HIS PLAN THROWN INTO DISCARD
Conference Adopts Ayala Plan Which Provides for Immediate Division of Big Landed Estates

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 30.—Though the Mexican peace conference at Aguas Calientes has adopted the plan of Ayala, the Zapatista plan, as the national platform, it has not served to bring peace between the rival Mexican factions, according to dispatches received today.

These declare fighting between the troops of General Venustiano Carranza and General Francisco Villa has already taken place at San Gil, twenty miles east of the convention city, when Villista troops tried to prevent the mobilization of Carranza forces which threatened the generals participating in the peace conference. The Villistas were successful.

Carranza Has Other Force
Carranza is also said to have mobilized another force of 15,000 men at Leon, twenty miles south of Aguas Calientes.

The plan of Ayala was adopted by the peace delegates after two days of bitter debate, during which the lives of various generals were threatened. This platform will replace the plan of Guadalupe as the official Mexican platform. It is on the plan of Guadalupe that Carranza bases his government.

The new platform declares for immediate division of the big landed estates of Mexico and enables the generals of the army to bring about the immediate elimination of Carranza from the provisional presidency.

Threatens Arrest
At a secret session of the convention, a message sent by Governor Felipe Riveros, of Sonora, was read. He appealed to the convention to sustain the sovereignty of his state government. He declared General Carranza had threatened to arrest all the state officials and had already arrested the commanders of the fourth and fifth battalions of state troops.

A near riot was precipitated when a message from Carranza was read announcing that unless Gen. Francisco Villa and General Emiliano Zapata, leaders of the two most radical wings of the constitutional party, resign from the army and retire to private life, he will immediately call upon the army to sustain him.

U. S. MARINES TO QUELL TROUBLE IN HAYTIEN REPUBLIC

Rebel General Theodore Forces Abdication of President Zamor of Island Government

CRUISER NOW AT PORT AU PRINCE
Battleship Nebraska Rushing to Hayti from Vera Cruz to Enforce Peace

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Nine hundred khaki clad American marines were due to arrive today on board the transport Hancock at Port au Prince, Hayti, rushed there by news of new developments in the revolution in the Black republic. Their hasty dispatch from Santo Domingo was sought by the state department when advices were received that the insurgent general, Davidmar Theodore, had ousted and forced abdication of President Zamor.

Officials were not surprised at the news of the overthrow of the Zamor government. The revolution which Theodore began a couple of months ago has been simmering after a sharp clash recently, which caused this government to threaten to intervene with armed forces.

A detachment of marines from the cruiser Tacoma is now guarding the United States officials at Port au Prince. The Tacoma is lying in the harbor with her guns trained on the town.

The battleship Nebraska is also rushing at high speed today from Vera Cruz to Port au Prince, under orders given late yesterday when the revolution situation became more threatening. The Nebraska has two companies of marines aboard. Upon her arrival with marines and blue-jackets the United States, with the forces of the Tacoma will have over 2,000 men to cope with the situation.

Officials said today that the marines on the Hancock and Nebraska would probably not be landed if Theodore's occupation of Port au Prince is peaceful. They will be held on board their respective vessels until developments.

LA FOLLETTE HITS PHILIPP AND PAYS BLAINE TRIBUTE IN OPENING CAMPAIGN

Senator Tears Stalwart Charges Involving Dead Man to Shreds in Eloquent Contempt

OLD AS THE "GOOD OLD DAYS"

Special Train Story Answered with Silencing Force While Gen. Bryant Was Alive to Meet It

HE IS STILL VERY WEAK

Great Audience Waits for Hours to Hear Him and Cheers Veteran of Progressive Movement

With stinging contempt for a candidate for governor whose "best violence" was an accusation of which one sleeping in an honored grave was made a party, Senator Robert M. La Follette gave the lie to Emanuel Philipp at the Milwaukee auditorium last night.

Despite the fact that not a single Milwaukee evening paper gave notice of the time and place of the meeting last night, La Follette spoke to a packed house. It was nearly 10 o'clock when he entered the hall, after catching two hours' sleep at his hotel. For two solid hours the crowd had waited without impatience, as was demonstrated by the hearty applause accorded speakers who preceded La Follette. John J. Blaine, the non-partisan candidate, received particularly appreciative attention.

The entrance of Senator La Follette was the signal for a storm of applause, which continued at intervals throughout his address.

The reference to Philipp's railroad fund story came the moment the senator took the floor. The story was, in substance, that in his campaign in 1906 he had been the beneficiary of $10,000 donated to the campaign fund by the railroads, that "La Follette's personal representative" had personally accepted $2,500 of it in Philipp's presence; that in that campaign La Follette had accepted the services of a special train for which the committee had paid approximately $50 per day although the service was worth $500 per day.

The first of these charges La Follette disposed of by pointing out that the man referred to by Philipp as "La Follette's personal representative," General Bryant, was in fact chairman of the state committee, that Bryant is dead and can not speak, that the accusation was not attempted during his life time. He said he had never heard of the alleged donation, and that if General Bryant received the money he did it knowing that he (La Follette) would not accept it. Plainly, he did not believe the story at all, but he declared with compelling emphasis that if Philipp meant that La Follette was a party to the alleged incident, Philipp lied.

Senator La Follette read a letter signed by General Bryant completely refuting the special train charge. It showed that La Follette had especially insisted that the hiring of the train must be on a business basis, and that Bryant had asked for the price in the usual way and had paid the price quoted by the company. He showed that the contract was not for $50 per day, but was for $40 per day for each road used, so that if in one day the special traveled on three separate roads the cost was $120 per day.

The climax of La Follette's speech was a stirring appeal for votes for Blaine, to whom he paid a tribute in which the deep personal feeling he entertains for the candidate was betrayed.

A large portion of the senator's effort

TURKEY ENTERS THE WAR IN EUROPE ON THE SIDE OF THE DUAL ALLIANCE

Allies Believe That This Presages Entrance Of Italy And The Balkan States Into Conflict On Side Of Teutons' Enemies

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Dispatches from Petrograd say that the Russian ambassador to Turkey has been instructed to demand his passports and to leave Constantinople at once. At the same time, the entire consular representation of Russia in Turkey has been recalled.

It is believed certain in official circles here that a formal declaration of war between Russia and Turkey is the question of only a few hours. What is described as being virtually a "state of war" has existed since early yesterday when Turkey's fleet began its attack upon the Russian Black sea unfortified ports.

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Turkey has entered the European war as an ally of Germany and Austria. No official declaration has been issued, so far as is known, but Turkish battleships yesterday appeared in the Black Sea, and bombarded Crimean and Caucasian ports.

Entrance of Italy and the Balkan states into the war is believed the inevitable consequence of Turkey's action. Attempts are being made by representatives of the allies at Rome, Sophia and Bucharest to persuade the governments of these states to cast their lots in with the allies against Germany, Austria and Turkey.

Authorities here declare today that the situation presents an opportunity for Bulgaria and Roumania to end, for all time, the hostile power of Turkey in Europe.

RUSSIA ENTHUSIASTIC
PETROGRAD, Oct. 30.—Russia has accepted Turkey's participation in the war in enthusiastic fashion. High government officials today declared that the czar and his advisors welcome the opportunity to settle for all time the entire Turkish question.

Orders have been sent to the Black sea fleet to search out and destroy the Turkish squadrons now operating against Crimean and Caucasian ports. At the same time the troops which have been held in readiness for this expected event will move shortly.

NO DECLARATION AS YET
No official declaration of war has been received. Communication with Constantinople has been interrupted and no word has been received from the Russian embassy to tell whether the ambassador and his staff have been handed their passports.

At the British embassy here it was stated that there can be little doubt now that the entire Balkans will be involved in the war. Bulgaria and Roumania, it is stated, must now decide whether they will attempt to continue an unpopular neutrality or will seize the opportunity once for all to end Turkey in Europe as a nation. The officials here believe that both Roumania and Bulgaria will strike against Turkey in the immediate future.

Big Patriotic Parade
News that Turkey actually had entered the war was made public in this city in special editions of the newspapers. Almost immediately afterward a patriotic demonstration was started that eclipsed anything seen here since the opening of the war. Headed by officers in uniform who are waiting orders and by soldiers, a great procession was formed in the Nevsky prospect. At the head were the flags of Russia, France and Belgium, and the crowds marched to the winter palace where patriotic songs were sung and many patriotic addresses were made.

It is declared at the war office that Germany has called on Turkey in the hope that a demonstration by the Turkish army and navy will relieve the pressure on the Austro-German armies in Galicia and along the East Prussian border. It is stated here that the Germans have not only been routed in the fighting along the Vistula, but that a large part of the German army which invaded Russian Poland actually had been cut off and is in danger of being entirely annihilated.

It was officially announced here today that the Russian troops operating in Bulowina have again defeated the Austrians and have recaptured Czernowit, capital of that crown land. It is also stated that the general situation both in Galicia and Russian Poland continues to improve from the Russian view points.

Turks Active in Black Sea
The reports received here of the Turkish activity are, for the present confined to the following: Two destroyers, flying the Turkish flag, shelled the outer harbor at Odessa sinking a Russian merchant steamer.

The Turkish cruiser Breslau, secured from Germany, appeared off the entrance to the harbor of Theodosia, Caucasus, and sent two officers ashore to demand the surrender of the city. The Russian governor made the two officers prisoners of war and refused the demand. The Breslau then bombarded the outer docks, doing considerable damage and killing one soldier.

The Turkish cruiser Hamidieh appeared off Novorossiysk and immediately afterward the Turkish consul general there demanded that the town surrender to the warship. He was arrested and immediately afterward the warship withdrew.

Sinks Two Russian Ships
The Turkish battle cruiser Goeben, secured from Germany, torpedoed and sunk the Russian steamers Yalta and Kakbek in the outer roadstead at Kerch, Caucasus.

Turk Ambassador Surprised
Farahdine Bey, the Turkish ambassador to Russia, was still at his post here today. He is anxiously awaiting instructions from his government, and says he has only official news regarding the bombardment of unfortified cities along the Black sea. He expressed the deepest regret over the developments and made it plain that he has expected that Turkey would remain neutral.

Daddy's Bedtime

Why the Doggie Lost His Patience.

Don Walked Into the Bathroom, His Tail Wagging Triumphant.

"DOGS are very sagacious animals," said daddy as the children ran to him for the evening story. "I heard a very amusing story the other day about Mr. Patmore's dog."

"Oh, they have the cutest baby!" exclaimed Evelyn.

"Yes, it's about the baby, too, this story. You see after the baby came Don, the dog, took a proprietary sort of interest in her and used to sit by the hour and watch her, and when she grew old enough to sit on the floor and play they used to have great times playing together."

"But this particular baby hates the water, so Mr. Patmore says; hates it worse than anything you can possibly imagine. So when the daily bathing time comes around there is quite likely to be considerable of a spree."

"The baby yells at the top of her lusty lungs all through the bathing and drives poor Mrs. Patmore and the nurse almost distracted."

"One day Mrs. Patmore noticed that when the baby howled Don always scuttled into a corner or under a sofa or behind a door and moaned pitifully out of sheer sympathy."

"But after a month or so of this anguish Don must have set his doggie wits to work to devise a scheme to stop it."

"The baby is bathed in a little tin bathtub which is quite low, and what should happen one day when the baby was screaming herself black and blue?"

"Why, the doggie Don walked into the bathroom, his tail waving triumphantly and carrying in his mouth baby's rattle as if to say, 'There, I guess I can quell this disturbance!'"

"Don stood over the bathtub and shook his head vigorously, making the rattle jingle merrily. The baby stopped crying and looked at Don and the rattle, smiled and cooed as serene as you please and held out her little wet, soapy hands for the rattle."

"But when she got it in her hands she began to yell again louder than ever, and Mr. Patmore says that Don's face, his whole form, were the most wonderful picture of disgust."

"He slunk away out of the bathroom, his tail between his legs, and now Mr. Patmore says that when Don sees preparations made for baby's bath he makes his escape and very often does not return to the house for an hour or more."

The children laughed as they scampered away to bed.

"Good night and pleasant dreams!" called daddy after them.

Short Story

FAIR PLAY

BY RICHARD BARKER SHELTON

(Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The candles in the many little paper lanterns sputtered away and made many-colored reflections in the still water just below the boat house veranda. Up the green slope of lawn sounded the dreamy encore of a hesitation waltz. Constance Waite, her eyes troubled, stepped away from the big, eager young man before her.

"Why did you come back here?" she asked.

"You knew I'd come back," said he.

"I didn't," said she. "I thought you didn't."

"Well, just what did you think?"

"I thought that you, knowing what you did, would stay away."

"Conny," said he, "when I went away I told you I was coming back—coming back in a position to ask you to marry me."

Her only answer was a little troubled sigh.

"You didn't believe me—or better you didn't have faith in me, did you?" he persisted.

"Frankly, I didn't."

"Well, you're not to blame for that," he reminded her. "I didn't have any too much faith in myself when I left. I've been lucky."

She looked at him a moment. Then quite suddenly her face flushed and her eyes turned from his eager ones.

She pulled the white wrap more closely about her bare shoulders. She started resolutely past him. Up the slope the hesitation waltz went dreamily on.

"Hold on a minute, Conny," said he, laying a hand on her arm. "Don't go yet. Tell me first."

"Tell me what?"

"That every bit of your love for me died when I left here."

"Come, I'm going up to the house," she said, evading the issue.

"Tell me that first."

She threw out her hands in a little gesture of despair.

"Oh, what's the use?" said she. "I shan't say it. It won't matter anyway now. I'm engaged to Bunny."

And no matter what I think or feel I'm going to play fair with him. It's too late, that's all. Now come up to the house and we'll dance awhile and try to forget."

He started after her miserably enough if his lagging footsteps counted for anything. Before they had reached the slope he had put a tentative hand on her shoulder again.

"Conny, why in the name of conscience didn't I make you marry me, whether I had money or not, before I ever went away?"

"Why didn't you?" she echoed.

She would have gone on after that, but he would not have it.

"I see it all," he cried. "As soon as I left your Aunt Ellen began on this match. She made it; she forced it upon you. She was always strong for Bunny and Bunny's money!"

"It doesn't matter how it happened," she said wearily. "The thing that does matter is that it has happened. I'm engaged to Bunny, and I shall play fair with him. He isn't the worst chap in the world, and he's awfully in love with me. Yes, I shall play fair with him."

Again they started up the slope toward the sound of the music and the shuffling feet, but again halfway up the stretch of lawn he stopped short.

"If it wasn't for Bunny," said he. "She turned and faced him in the soft darkness, her eyes ashine."

"Oh, if it wasn't for Bunny," she breathed.

She heard him catch his breath. Then he took her in his arms and crushed her to him, despite her struggles and her little smothered cries of dismay.

"Hang it! You shan't spoil your life and mine! You shan't, I say! Something shall be done about this!"

He stopped and kissed her full on the lips; then, putting her almost roughly from him, he began to run up the slope.

"Where—where are you going?" she panted.

"To murder Bunny, if I can't think up something better before I happen to encounter him," he called back over his shoulder.

"Kirk, Kirk, wait! You mustn't!" she panted.

But he paid no heed.

Just what he could do in the matter he wasn't at all sure, as somewhat calmer he reached the broad veranda of the house. He mounted the steps and glared savagely through the window at the dancers, dipping and gliding and evidently enjoying themselves hugely on the polished floor of the big dining room.

Angry he turned away, strode stormily down the veranda and turned a corner. So great was his haste that he did not see the gloomy figure sprawled in a chair with long legs sticking out before it. It was only when he tripped over those same legs and went ungracefully and not without something of a miniature earthquake to his hands and knees that he was aware that particular chair was occupied.

The occupant of the chair leaped up, apologizing for his offending legs, and helped Kirk Brandon to his feet. Then his face lighted.

"Oh, I say Kirk," said he, "this is good—this chance to see you alone. I won't apologize for tripping you up, not even if I've broken your neck. Sit down!" He dragged the other man to a chair.

"Well, what's on your mind, Runny?" Brandon asked curtly, and he was wondering how on earth Constance had ever managed to so far forget herself as to allow herself to become engaged to such an all-round stupid fool as Bunny Colton.

Bunny twisted and untwisted his long fingers. Then he began toying with the pleats of his shirt and the lapels of his dinner jacket.

"You always were a clever chap, Kirk," said he. "I want you to help me out of an awful mess. I want you to help me write a letter."

"Whom is the letter to?" Kirk asked.

"A girl!"

He took the dinner coat off and put it on again. "You see, I'm awfully in love with her," said he. He turned up the bottoms of his trousers, then turned them down again and ran his hand through his hair.

"Awfully, awfully, awfully in love with her," he repeated pathetically. "But I've got to give her up. I've got to play fair."

Kirk started. What was Bunny Colton driving at? What did he suspect and what fine—really fine—thing was he about to do?

"I want you to tell me how to write a letter giving her up—breaking our engagement. I want to know how to word it so it will be final, yet so she won't suspect how awfully awfully in love with her I am."

Kirk felt something in his throat. Plainly everybody had misjudged poor, stupid Bunny—he with the rest. He felt himself prepared for great sacrifices on his own part; just to match Bunny Colton in his generosity.

"Tell me about it—why you want to give her up, Bunny?"

"Well," said Bunny, "I've got to. I'm engaged to two of 'em, drat the luck! I'm engaged to Conny Waite, and then I got engaged to this other girl. I got engaged the second time without meaning to—before I realize it. And I've got to play fair. Conny's awfully in love with me—or with my money. It's all the same thing. I'm going to play fair with Conny. But I've got to undo this other engagement. Now how in time am I going to word that letter, Kirk?"

Kirk sprang to his feet. "You're not in love with Conny, then?"

Bunny, taking his attitude for reproach, winced. "No-o," he said slowly. "No-o. Frankly, Kirk, I'm not. You see her Aunt Ellen sort of sicked me on and—But I'm going to play fair with her, Kirk. I'm going to get out of this other engagement, although I'm awfully in love with the second one. You tell me what to do—how to word the letter, will you?"

"Say, just keep on being engaged to her! Don't write her at all," Kirk advised, as he gave the distraught Bunny a joyous and staggering blow between the shoulders and

FEAR FOR JAP COMMERCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Anxiety over Japanese commerce, on account of the presence at Honolulu of the German cruiser Geier was expressed today at the Japanese embassy. It was pointed out that while the Geier is undergoing repairs, discretion as to how long is necessary for the work rests entirely with the United States government. The fact that the Geier may put to sea at any moment, fully equipped for her work as a commerce destroyer, is proving a deterrent, it was said to Japanese ships clearing from Pacific ports.

 THE TRIBUNE'S published circulation statement is verified and vouched for by THE ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN ADVERTISERS.
 The Tribune is the only La Crosse newspaper that would submit to a circulation examination.

LABOR WILL VOTE FOR ITS BREAD AND BUTTER

The fifteen country precincts of La Crosse county will give John J. Blaine more votes than they give Philipp and Karel combined.

What will the city of La Crosse do?

There is no doubt as to what the stalwart wards will do. They will vote for Philipp and Karel, and although they are republican wards, Karel will get about as many votes as Philipp.

That should be a sufficient "tip" to the great wards where live the workers, the men who turn the wheels, that their interests lie with John J. Blaine.

Pessimists say that Labor never learns. We have no patience with that assertion. Labor has learned, LABOR KNOWS. It is the old PARTY HABIT that sometimes keeps Labor from voting as it thinks.

As assemblyman, Karel voted against the 2-cent passenger mileage, railroad regulation, taxing of railroads on higher basis so they would pay the same rate as the workman paid on his home, bill to abolish passes and make rich men and politicians pay railroad fare the same as poor people.

And while Karel was voting against these things in the assembly, Philipp was opposing those that affected the corporations by his influence about the legislature.

If you let Karel or Philipp appoint a new head to the industrial commission, WHAT WILL INJURED WORKMEN GET?

Come on, now—face it squarely—you workmen. Chairman Crownhart's term is about complete. The next governor will appoint his successor. The chairman sits as a judge, to give fair compensation to the injured, or to give little or nothing. What will a chairman appointed by Philipp or Karel, who oppose the commissions, give the injured? What will a judge appointed by these capitalist men give the workers as against his own crowd?

The commission under Crownhart gave Molly Kane, widow of the worker who lost his life here, $3,000. He died of blood poisoning, a slight scratch. It was a case where a friend of the corporations could easily have fooled the public, saved a rich concern expense and defrauded the widow and children. WHAT WOULD A PHILIPP CHAIRMAN HAVE DONE? WHAT A KAREL CHAIRMAN?

You know! While Karel and Philipp were fighting Labor and working for the corporate class, Blaine was working for Labor in the state senate.

Blaine voted to make the banks GUARANTEE YOUR SAVINGS DEPOSITS; he voted for pure food laws, he voted to safeguard labor agreements; for an eight-hour day, factory safety devices, for the child labor law.

In addition, it was Blaine who had the courage to start the Stephenson investigation in which it was shown that millionaire lumberman had scattered $113,000 over the state to secure a $7,500 a year job. Out of that investigation came our corrupt practices act.

But Blaine's GREATEST SERVICE TO LABOR was his influential part in the drafting and passage of THE WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT. Upon that subject there is no guesswork. The following paragraph is from the LEGISLATIVE REPORT OF THE WISCONSIN STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR made at its ANNUAL CONVENTION July 19, 1911:

The first law to be enacted was the workman's compensation act, which is now chapter 50 of the laws of 1911, but here I wish to remind you that the 1909 session gave this legislation its first real start by the appointment of a special committee. Its chairman, Senator Albert W. Sanborn of Ashland, Senator John J. Blaine of Boscobel and Assemblyman Taylor Freye of Eau Claire deserve special credit for their activity in the enactment of this law.

Labor cannot retain its gains and forge greater liberties and better living IF IT VOTES WITH CAPITAL. To go forward to better conditions LABOR MUST VOTE FOR LABOR. Blaine, in EVERY LINE of the record, is for labor; Karel and Philipp, in EVERY LINE of the record, ARE FOR THE CORPORATIONS. For whom will Labor vote?

For Philipp or Karel and CAPITALISTIC TYRANNY or

For Blaine and LABOR'S CHANCE?

ASSEMBLY CANDIDATES

John Marquet, socialist candidate for the assembly in the First La Crosse district, is well fitted for the position for which his party has presented him. He began life with a sound educational grounding, and all his life he has been an earnest student. Particularly has he read widely along the economic and sociological lines so intimately involved in the present day movement of civilization.

Marquet is the ONLY CANDIDATE in the field who can be depended upon to give the plain people comprehending service. A poor man, a worker, he knows their problems, their thoughts, their aspirations.

Marquet is the only candidate who has the endorsement of the trades and labor council; both the rival candidates were rejected by that body after careful examination of their qualifications, interests and affiliations. What reason can any man who labors or is in modest business assign to his intelligence for failing to vote for Marquet? What excuse can he give for voting for either of the other candidates? His children, his calloused hands, his bread and butter cry out to him to vote for Marquet; they will accuse him if he fails.

This is the time for putting aside empty partyism and voting for principles and practical results; it is a time of discarding the shell and demanding the substance. Marquet is the substance, the others the empty shell.

In the Second district the social-Labor has a true and tried friend in E. J. Kneen, democratic candidate. He has the warm endorsement of the trades and labor council, and the endorsement is based upon his record of SERVICES PERFORMED. What excuse can any laboring man in that district give for not voting for Kneen?

In the Second district the socialists have no candidate for the assembly. They should vote for Kneen to a man. While he does not belong to their party, in the legislature THEY HAVE FOUND HIM JUST. Ask Webber! Ask Berger! Ask Seidel!

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

The Happy Feller
 Always glad to meet the feller that's contented with his fate,
 And is traveling to Canaan at the hallelujah gait!
 When he's in the lowest valley, still he keeps on looking high,
 Till he sees a dozen rainbows that are laughing through the sky!

Never worries at the burdens! Says a heavy load is good Just to straighten out a feller, as no other blessing could.
 And if fortune comes and hits him as he wanders to and fro,
 Says twill quit its meanness sometime, for he dodges every blow!

With the world he has no quarrel; says he lets it have its way:
 If the winter claims December, there'll be roses in the May;
 And no matter what the journey to the far-off frazzled end,
 Life shall greet him every morning with the hand-clasp of a friend!

Glad to meet the happy feller with a whistle on his lips,
 With his heart so glad and hopeful when the cloudy season drips;
 World seems rather gloomy sometimes, but to meet him on the way Makes me feel I'm glad I'm in it, and I'm still content to stay!
 —Freeman E. Miller, in Oklahoman

Man's Trouble
 "West Virginia's dryness hit man harder than it hit woman," said Mayor Kirk of Wheeling. "Woman is more temperate than man. She never has any trouble through drink."
 Mr. Kirk smiled and added:
 "Woman is the weaker vessel, but it's man who must oftenest be bailed out."

A Criticism
 "The Germans boast of the War Lord's military genius," said H. W. Macklady, the English consul in Kansas City, "but do they really mean that they say?
 "Two German-Americans, over a succulent sauerkraut and sausage luncheon in a ratskeller, were discussing the war the other day.
 "The kaiser," said the first, "has gone to Eastern Prussia to take over the command of all the forces."
 "Donnervetter!" said the other German-American gloomily. "Those Russians have all the luck!"

The Excuse
 Discussing another atrocity charge, Representative P. Lyons Dunning said in Oswego:
 "Of course the guilty will get out of it with a glib excuse. These people, with their glib excuses, remind me of the philandering husband."
 "This chap, in a dim lit conservatory, was rebuked thus by a pretty girl:
 "How dare you try to kiss me? Only this afternoon I saw you kissing your wife. And I heard you tell her, too, that she was all the world to you."
 "Yes, that's right," the philanderer replied.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble. Chas. A. Beyschlag, druggist, 503 Main St.

Fiery Blood Disorders Checked

The Sources of Disease are Cleaned and Blood Purified

Those who have used S. S. S. marvel at the way it checks blood diseases. See a man today with his skin all broken out; see him again in a week or two after using S. S. S. and he is a wonder to behold, all cleared up, skin healthy, eyes bright, a big smile replaces the droop. What is S. S. S. that can accomplish such wonderful results? First of all it is a natural medicine. Like milk, eggs and other foods that can not be imitated, S. S. S. owes its life to Nature for its power to overcome disease just as food prevents emaciation. S. S. S. is not a combination of prescription drugs. It is a preparation direct from medicinal plants that retains all the virtue potency of what we need, what we must have in the blood to counteract those destructive tendencies that assail us throughout life. If it were not for our natural secretions to sustain us, aided by such known helps as S. S. S. there would be small chance of any of us surviving childhood.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. today from any druggist but be careful to avoid the substitutes peddled off on the unwary. S. S. S. is prepared only by The Swift Specific Co., 53 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and for private medical advice write briefly your symptoms to their medical department. They will take excellent care of you.

dering husband said, calmly. "But then there are two worlds, you know. Wife is the old world. You are the new."

Milk of Human Kindness
 The simple-hearted Weary One and the crafty Bill Sikes were supporting the walls of the works, their tins of untasted coffee in their hands. Bill's coffee looked like coal, while the Weary One had in his the added luxury of a small quantity of milk.

Wherefore, as they say, did Bill covet the tin of the Weary One and did decide to exchange beverages should an opportunity occur.
 "Torkin of pickpockets," said the Weary One, "I once heard of a chap who could pinch a 'handkercher from a gent's sleeve."
 "Oh, that's nothin'," laughed William. "I knows a cove wot can take yer 'at from yer 'ead without yer knowin' it!"

But the Weary One was incredulous.
 Just then he was called away by the foreman, and on his return he picked up the tin which he had trustingly left with Bill and his incredulity vanished like lightning.
 "Well," he exclaimed, "bust me if this don't beat yer, 'at trick, Bill. 'Ere's some one bin an' swiped the milk out of my coffee!"—London Telegraph.

Not Figured, Just Decided

Recently in a justice court in the state of Kansas, some wheat in the stack had been attacked, and it became necessary, through an order of the court, to have the same thrashed.

One of the workmen among the thrashers put in a voucher for $11, which seemed entirely too high for the court.

The court questioned the workman concerning his labor, and asked him how much he charged per day for his labor. The laborer replied: "Three dollars."

The court asked him how many days he worked, and the workman replied: "Two days."

The court then asked the laborer how he figured the bill at $11, since he had worked only two days at $3 per day.

The witness replied:
 "I didn't figure it; I just decided on it!"—West's Record.

A vivid pink splashed the girl's face. Fortunately no one, save sne, had caught the too free compliment of this bold young mueddin. The street was, and always is, very noisy daytimes.

"How dare you?" He only laughed for answer. Roses where had been lilies! The old Persian poets would have likened now the lady's face to a new garden of enchantment.

The din around them increased. "Ho! Demon of a camel!" some one now was yelling.

"Back dog!" This time it was the dervish himself who was addressed by one of her attendants.

"The dog apologizes to you lady, for his boldness," he said in quick, mocking tones, and released her.

"No, no!" She turned to the attendant who had raised a staff to strike the dervish.

The latter's eyes now expressed a sardonic amusement as they rested on the servant; there was also in their depths a dangerous glitter. The man stood uncertainly.

"He saved me from a bad fall," she added hastily, whereupon the pole was lowered and the lady vanished into the litter. A curtain fell and the camels with their delicate patrician burden swayed imperiously down the Street that is called Straight. The dervish gazed after them, then wheeled rather abruptly to the proprietor of the pastry shop.

"Who is she?" he demanded. The proprietor heard him amazed. This ragged fellow presumed greatly, because he had performed a trifling service. And he, a holy man, in a city where it is not considered good etiquette even to look at one of the fair sex on the street! This bold dervish had dared to do that before the little incident of the litter and now the impudent rascal inquired brazenly about her.

"Who is she? Out upon you!" exclaimed the pastry-man indignantly. "Away from my shop, rank pretender of holliness."

"Pretender!" For a moment the other, as if a little startled, confronted the shopkeeper, then as people were beginning to gather, he seemed to think better of the impulse to answer angrily and moved on.

That's what a great lady gets for being charitable," grumbled the proprietor to his assistant, as he re-entered his kitchen. "Impudence!"

"Wasn't that the beautiful step-daughter of —?" the assistant murmured insinuatingly a name.

The cake-man looked around. In the quiet of his own bake-place, despite his indignation against the holy man, he was, himself, not altogether averse to gossiping about women.

Very discreetly, of course! Pouring frosting and patting sugar seemed a natural accompaniment to delicate prattle about dainty femininity in the higher social walks of life. He nodded now assentingly.

"The one that —?" went on the assistant.

"Yes; May and December, I call them."

"Good!" Adjusting a plum on a succulent background.

"A dove, I have heard."

"You mean a young tigress. They say —" He whispered.

"No?" Listening with delight.

"Yes; one of the servants told a servant of —"

"The step-mother will be put out. She was here yesterday."

"She? Ugh!"

Then they put the sweet things in to bake. They had discussed what promised to be a choice scandal for the patrons of sweetsmeats. In the inner rooms of the many shops of this kind, women would soon be mouthing it with other delectable things.

Outside the stream of life flowed on. The dervish was now a part of it. At first he had moved mechanically, but before long he straightened and squared his shoulders. Judging from the quick glances he cast around him, his mind had again become focused on the ever-changing details of his immediate environment.

Within doors at this hour every one seemed to be eating. The merchant in his shop sat cross-legged, plate on knee. Glimpses into back rooms afforded views of groups convivially busy at the festive board.

STARCH BROS. MITCHELL AGENTS FOR LA CROSSE

In many booths, layers of mutton, interlarded with the fat of the tail, turned on spits. Appetizing odors floated in and out of doorways, as if to tantalize the senses of half-starved holy men. Small boys and girls gilded hither and thither with steaming bowls of boiled beans. The perambulating donkeys, laden with coconuts, fruit and other edibles, paused that the people might buy.

"Oh, consoler of the embarrassed, have a sweetmeat."

"Honey! Oh, oranges! relieve me of them."

"How sweet the little vegetable from near the river! Aid in partaking of it." The driver's voices arose in stentorian invitations, which were not invitations to the penniless.

Now forcing his way between these individuals, the dervish became abruptly conscious that some one near at hand, was following and watching him. He half turned and his eyes met, for the fraction of a minute, the deep, clear—devilishly clear—ones of a thick-set, fanatical looking Mohammedan; then with a quick contemptuous swing of his cloak of rags, the dervish plunged into the crowd. The other, about to follow more quickly, found himself touched on the arm and restrained.

"The saddle for my master's horse—is it finished?" said he who stopped him.

"Yes; I will be at my shop in a moment. Await me there." He would have broken impatiently away, when—

"Why not come now?" said the man.

And Sadi, the saddler, had to acquiesce, for he who addressed him was servant to Amad, the diamond merchant, the richest man in Damascus, and, moreover, a distant relative of Sadi, himself.

"My master trusts the saddle is worthy of the Star of the Desert."

"It is worthy," said the saddlemaker, his malicious eyes turned in the direction the dervish had gone.

"You seemed in a hurry," remarked the servant curiously.

"Some one I wished to speak with. I saw him in the crowd," muttered the other.

"A friend, eh?"

"Yes—a friend." With a curious laugh, "I made his acquaintance at Mecca. But perhaps we'll meet again. Anyway, it doesn't matter," he had to add politely, though inwardly anathematizing his rich relative and most lucrative customer.

CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK CHILDREN NEED "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

A coated tongue means sluggish liver and bowels—Listen mother!

Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has sour stomach, diarrhoea, remember a gentle liver and bowel cleanser should always be the first treatment given.

Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills. Give a

When my wife and I were on our honeymoon we were advised to visit a certain ruined castle the custodian of which was a relative of the noble owner. Having viewed the glorious old pile, I was at a loss how and in what way to offer a gratuity, bearing in mind the "blue blood" of our guide. The following conversation took place:

"We thank you for your courtesy, and would be glad to give small sum to any cause if you have a box for that purpose."

"Sir," was the reply, "we have a box."

"Then may I see it?" I asked.

teaspoonful and in just a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food, clogged in the bowels, passes out of the system and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless fruit laxative and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on each bottle.

Mother, keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

CAN'T VOTE STRAIGHT

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 30.—Returns from Kansas will be slow Tuesday night, for the new Massachusetts ballot law does away with the straight party votes. Kansas electors must pick out and mark every candidate's name whom he desires to support. No longer are the candidates enlisted by parties with a party emblem at the top for the assistance of those who "voted 'er straight," under the picture. And voters who cannot read are up against it. Attorney General Dawson has ruled that those who cannot read shall not receive assistance in marking their ballot—the blind excepted. This will disfranchise but few, however, as Kansas has the lowest percentage of illiteracy of any state in the union.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria cures the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

BIG WAR BOOMS POSTAL SAVINGS

Postmaster Olaf Skaar Sees Increase in Department of Postoffice Here as in All Other Offices

Contrary to the views of many, the savings department of the postoffice has increased by leaps and bounds since the opening of the European war, and the local branch has seen a marked increase in deposits and much fewer withdrawals, according to Postmaster Olaf Skaar.

Many persons—said to be well informed—saw in their imaginations, feverish lines of people before the postoffice savings windows, eager to withdraw the money which they had trusted in the hands of Uncle Sam.

Two important results have followed; thousands of people, largely of foreign birth, accustomed to send their savings abroad, are now patrons of our postal savings system; and enormous sums of actual cash have been released for commercial uses among our own people at a time when the need for every available dollar is pressing.

The growth of postal savings in the United States has been steady and healthy and the system has filled an important gap between the tin-can depository and the factory paymaster. On July 1, when affairs were running smoothly here and abroad and the transmission of money across the Atlantic was safe and expeditious, there was approximately $43,000,000 of postal savings standing to the credit of about 388,000 depositors. Since then over $10,000,000 of deposits have been added and the numbers of depositors has increased enormously.

"The people of La Crosse who took this view," said Postmaster Olaf Skaar today, "did not figure the confidence with which the general bulk of the people consider the government of the United States."

NINE IN ARMY

GLASGOW. (By Mail to New York.—Sir Charles Cayzer, former M. P., has received a letter from the king, congratulating him at being the head of a "fighting family." Nine members of his family are serving with the forces. The two best known are the sons-in-law of Admiral Sir John Jellicoe and Admiral Madden.

LAND IN IRELAND TO AVOID MINES

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Warned by wireless of the existence of German mines off the northern coast of Ireland, the White Star liner Olympic, enroute from New York, yesterday landed her passengers at Lough Swilly, County Donegal, Ireland. Special trains were in waiting to convey them to the coast, where they will be sent to their destination in England.

WOULD KEEP FROM WAR

CASS LAKE, Minn., Oct. 30.—"I have enough money to help my son and daughter-in-law and I will do it to prevent them from joining forces in that terrible war," said Mrs. E. J. Fulton, today. She has started a nation wide search for the two young people, whom she says wrote her from Chicago that they were about to go to Europe to war, the boy as a soldier and the girl as a nurse.

ROOTERS AT HIGH SCHOOL BUY HATS

Loyal Football Followers of the Local School Invest in Headgear for the Sparta Game

"Buy a hat" is the cry of the loyal football supporters at the high school. A movement is on foot to have all high school rooters at the Sparta-LaCrosse game equipped with red and black rooters' hats. A great many names have already been subscribed and it is hoped that a hundred high school fans will appear in hats for the Sparta game. There will be a mass meeting and parade through the town streets on Wednesday and Friday evenings of next week to arouse enthusiasm for the game. The tickets appeared for sale today and a large number have already been disposed of. The management expects the largest attendance at this Sparta-LaCrosse game of any game in history, as both cities this year have teams which they consider state championship contenders. The game will probably be the hardest fought battle in the history of local high school football. The Reds and Blacks have been doing excellent work for the past few days. Coach Horne is expecting the best. La Crosse plays Winona tomorrow. A hard game is expected, and as Winona played in Sparta in the beginning of the season, the result of Saturday's game will fortell to a degree the result of the Sparta-LaCrosse game. A large squad of high school rooters will follow the team to Winona.

THE FARM KITCHEN

Improvement in the arrangement of the farm kitchen will result in saving the energies of some 3,000,000 people and make their work less heavy and more enjoyable, according to farmers' bulletin No. 697, issued by the United States department of agriculture.

This bulletin, entitled "The Farm Kitchen as a Workshop," discusses not merely the proper location of the kitchen with reference to other parts of the house, but gives details as to the best methods of treating its floors and walls, and gives well tested floor plans for the step saving arrangement of the sink, stove, table and other kitchen utilities.

This is the YOU Should Use Black Silk Stove Polish

It's different from others because more care is taken in the making and the materials used are of higher grade.

Makes a brilliant, silky polish that does not rub off or dust off, and the shine lasts four times as long as ordinary stove polish. Used on sample stoves and sold by hardware and grocery dealers. All we ask is trial. Use it on your cook stove, your parlor stove or your gas range. If you don't find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Insist on Black Silk Stove Polish. Made in liquid or paste—one quality.

U. S. TO BE MART FOR WORLD MONEY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 30.—"New York will be made the money market of South America, London will no longer be the financial capital of the world; American bills will be paid in dollars in New York, instead of pounds sterling in London." These were the predictions made to the American Hardware Manufacturers' association by W. T. Kies of the National City bank, New York. He said his bank would open the first South American branch bank outside this country, at Buenos Ayres, next month, to help develop trade in South America.

Help the Stomach Digest Your Food

When the stomach fails to digest and distribute that which is eaten, the bowels become clogged with a mass of waste and refuse that ferments and generates poisons that are gradually forced into the blood, causing distress and often serious illness.

Most people naturally object to the drastic cathartic and purgative agents that shock the system. A mild, gentle laxative, positive in its effect and that will quickly relieve constipation is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. It does not gripe or cramp, but acts easily and pleasantly and is therefore the most satisfactory remedy for children, women and elderly persons. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 451 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

SENATOR PROVES ABLE COMMANDER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—A serious breach threatens between the War department and the Senate. At the opening of the European war, a large map of Europe was hung in the democratic cloakroom in the Senate and every morning a young lieutenant from the department goes up to the capital and changes the lines of troops, indicated by pins. In view of the conflicting nature of the news this is no easy job to complete satisfaction of all, but the camel's back was broken, as far as the young lieutenant was concerned, when he found that three army corps of British troops had taken a position according to the map, behind the German lines.

Three little red pins, each indicating a British army corps, stretched away in a straight line from just back of Verdun toward Berlin.

It transpired that Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, dissatisfied with the progress of the allies, had decided to break through the German center.

But there are dire threats that if this happens again, the supervision of the map by the War department will cease.

CAN PREVENT A MILLION LOSS

"Heavy losses from the destructive white grub will occur in large areas of Wisconsin in the summer of 1915, unless our farmers use every means to prevent it"—is the warning issued by Prof. J. G. Sanders, entomologist of the agricultural experiment station at Madison.

The losses in 1915 promise to be as great or greater than in 1912 when 30 per cent of the corn crop was ruined. This trouble will occur every third year until more efficient controls are found.

Professor Sanders and other entomologists are trying to work out better control methods, but for the present the following recommendations are made to farmers for checking the white grub wherever the June beetles (the adult stage of the grub) were plentiful this summer.

1. Fall plow and drag immediately all fields where corn will be planted next year.
2. Plant corn again on 1914 corn land.
3. It will be comparatively safe to plant corn in a field with a pure stand of clover in 1914.
4. Do not plant corn on sod land plowed up next spring.

Special insect problems of all kinds will receive attention free of cost if communicated to the entomologist, agricultural experiment station, Madison, Wis.

RESORT NOW FORTRESS

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Heligoland of today is a vastly different sort of a place than it was prior to the beginning of the war, according to a traveler who has reached here. From the lively, popular seaside resort of a few months ago it has been turned into a grim looking fortification, fairly bristling with guns.

No signs of gaiety are seen. All the visitors have had to withdraw and also all the inhabitants of the island who are not detained on military duty have been ordered to depart. The reason for this is that it is planning to prevent the killing of any noncombatants in case of a battle.

Two hospital nurses are the only women on the island.

CARL B. NOELKE

LATIN QUARTER IS DREARIEST PARIS

"Boule Miche" Is Today Deserted by Gay Students and Their Sweethearts

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent) PARIS, Oct. 11, By Mail to New York—The once gay and festive Latin quarter is now in the dreariest section of Paris.

Last night was Saturday night, the big night along the "Boul' Miche," as the students love to call the Boulevard St. Michael, the main artery of "The Quarter." Yet as I wandered up and down its lengths I had the creeps. A country churchyard at midnight is a Coney Island compared to this once happy-go-lucky street. The hour I chose for my promenade was between 11 and 12 o'clock at night, the hour when ordinarily at this time of the year students are frolicking lambskins on the green, their arms about one another, or their pretty Mimi Pinson sweethearts, singing, laughing, shouting remarks at each other, having the time of their young lives; when the cafes are crowded with joyous youths and girls, the one absorbing his books and cafes creme, the other her hot milk or syrup mixture, fighting creditably shy of stronger beverages than coffee and cream when the lights are at their brightest, merriment at its fullest, the joy of living keenest and insouciance is at the flood tide.

Everything was different last night. The tone of the quarter was sepulchral. Most of the lights were out; the others dimmed; the shops were closed; the restaurants and cafes locked and barred and shuttered. As I walked down the thoroughfare from the Phanton towards the Seine, keeping to the right of the sidewalk—THE sidewalk of the "Boul' Miche"—I met perhaps two score people in the five or six squares from the top of the hill to the bridge spanning the river at Place St. Michael. Most of the people were girls, seeking, seeking, seeking, but apparently always in vain. I felt something akin to a shudder pass through me. The dark robed girls moving noiselessly through the shadows of this once brilliantly lighted street made me think of ghosts haunting some gilded palace of dead and gone ages, seeking vainly for those who used to travel here.

At the bottom of the hill I crossed the way and started back up the street on the opposite sidewalk. This was entirely deserted save for a cloaked policeman standing like a disconsolate spirit deep in the shadows of the trees. No, there was one living soul on that side of the street—the wrong side of the "Boul' Miche"—a woman alone and weeping. For me she was the symbol of "the quarter." I did not approach her so I could not swear she was real; today I am half inclined to think that she was not, that she was only a creature of my imagination, the spirit of gloom now mistress of the "Quartier Latin." War has played greater havoc nowhere than here where youth once had his kingdom.

Ominous Sign.

As the Statue of Liberty hove in sight one of the passengers rushed in to the captain's quarters. "Say, cap," he hiccupped, "can't ye wait around out here until dark? My wife's waiting for me with a club in her hand."—Exchange.

Plants Can Feel.

We now know that plants are able to feel objects at a distance. Certain ferns, for example, will begin to send down a root on the outside of the pot the instant water is placed in the saucer; and when a fly is placed before a sundew plant the leaf reaches for the insect with its tentacles.

When Buying Rugs.

When buying rugs remember that a dark rug shows dust and lint, and a green fades. Usually the best rugs have small patterns, whereas cheap fabrics have big, bold designs. Tan shades wear well and some reds are lasting. Blue rugs are suitable for bedrooms and red, brown and mixed colors for halls.

have cut the dykes and flooded the regions of the lower Yser. Following this up with a violent cannonading from both the French and the Belgian entrenchments the Germans have been forced to retreat well to the north.

British Attacked

The allies are also declared to be advancing in the vicinity of Ypres. The Germans essayed a violent counter attack against the British in the vicinity of La Bassee but were repulsed after hand to hand fighting in which the losses were very heavy. The British at the end of this fight were able to reoccupy ground previously ceded. The German losses in this fighting are said to have been very large.

At all other points on the battle line, the statement says, the French are advancing.

The fighting has materially slackened. This is due to the failure of German reinforcements who have reached the front to participate in the fighting as yet. But it is believed that they are planning a new assault not only in the north in the territory between Lille and Arras, but also on the right wing from Alsace-Lorraine.

Snow in Vosges

Wintry weather conditions interfered considerably with the operations everywhere today. It is reported to be snowing in the Vosges and in part of the Woivre region, while a wintry rain is falling elsewhere in the Woivre and in the Argonne.

The losses of the last fortnight have been staggering. While figures are withheld, it is certain that the allies have lost upwards of 50,000 in that period, killed, wounded and prisoners. And all reports received here place the German casualties at from three to four times that number.

The entire front of the battle line in the north is covered with unburied bodies. The many small villages that extended from Neuport to Dixmude have been absolutely obliterated. Only a few houses are left in Dixmude and the streets of the city are littered with the dead. Similar conditions prevail everywhere through the territory over which the battle was fought.

FORMER STUDENT CAVALRY LEADER

Many people of La Crosse will remember a fine fellow who attended the W. B. U. last year by the name of Ralph Wyman. He was a New Zealander and a very loyal British subject. He graduated from all departments of the W. B. U. with high honors and secured a position in Canada. Mr. Toland just received a letter from Ralph's mother containing photos of him in the full uniform of a captain of cavalry. Mr. Wyman has gone to the front and is now in France. When he came to the "W. B. U." he had already served as an officer in the Boer war. His La Crosse friends will be glad to hear of him again.

RACINE BELGIANS TAKE TO WARPATH

RACINE, Wis., Oct. 30.—War spirit was rampant in Racine county Tuesday evening, when a gang of Belgian beet workers, in a drunken frenzy, demolished the leading grocery store and two saloons in the village of Corliss, by smashing plate glass fronts and mirrors with beer bottles and broken furniture. A riot call sent the sheriff to the scene at midnight, but the marauders had scattered. He arrested four Belgians, however, who protest their innocence.

DIVORCE RICH BROKER

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The suit for divorce brought by Mrs. Pearl Ward Root against George Kent Root, a wealthy stock broker, was heard by Justice Giechrich here today and decision reserved.

Mrs. Root is the daughter of the late Davis Ward of Detroit. She inherited $5,000,000 of her father's $30,000,000 estate. The principal allegation in her action against Mr. Root was that for two years he lived secretly in an apartment on West End avenue with Anna K. Connell.

BACKGAMMON

Who plays backgammon nowadays? It was one of the favorite games of our forefathers, but is today apparently as obsolete as the dinosaur. Backgammon was invented in Wales in the eleventh century and derived its name from two Welsh words—"back" (diddle) and "gammon" (battle). Three-quarters of a century ago no home of the aristocracy was complete without its backgammon board. The game was played nightly as an innocent diversion. Two presidents—Van Buren and Jackson—were adepts at it.

TURKEY HAS ARMY OF MILLION TROOPS AND FAIRLY EFFECTIVE NAVY

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Turkey in entering the war, brings to aid of Germany and Austria a formidable army and a fair navy. The Turkish army on a war footing will number not less than one million men. Its failure in the Balkan war has been ascribed to the breaking down of officers. Realizing this defect in the present situation, the Germans have already sent 500 officers to the front and there is now no disposition here to minimize the strength of the new enemy.

The Turkish navy before the addition of the Goeben and Breslau consisted of three old battleships and two small cruisers of doubtful fighting value, and eight destroyers, three torpedo gunboats and nine torpedo boats, the latter all good fighting craft. The Goeben and Breslau retain their German crews.

taking steps to protect its own territory, makes it plain that the danger is far greater to England than to Russia. The former's control of Egypt and her direct communications with India will be threatened. On the other hand the Russian black sea fleet is far superior to the entire Turkish navy.

Up to the present, Russia has refrained from declaring war on Turkey, it being felt that even yet, Turkey might decide to repudiate some actions of her naval commanders.

BROTHER OF LOCAL WOMAN KILLED

John C. Metz, Glendive, Mont., brother of Mrs. Amalia Glinsky, 1524 South Tenth, and formerly a resident of La Crosse, was killed last night in an automobile accident near Glendive. Particulars of the accident have not been received here.

Mr. Metz was a native of La Crosse. Three years ago he sold his ice business at Thirteenth and Redfield streets and took up a claim near Glendive. While in La Crosse, he was a member of the Yomen, the Modern Woodmen and the Third and Eighth ward aid societies.

The body will be brought to La Crosse early tomorrow. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon. The hour has not been decided upon.

While speaking for the local democratic candidates and asking that President Wilson's administration be endorsed by the election of the democratic candidates, Mr. Bryan is also speaking in favor of the woman suffrage amendment to the Nebraska constitution, which is to be voted on next Tuesday.

Today Bryan was scheduled to speak at Hastings, Kearney and at a night meeting in Grand Island.

RUTH ST. DENIS MARRIES

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 30.—According to a story made public here Ruth St. Denis, and Edwin Shawn, famous dancer, were married at Miss St. Denis' home in New York on August 14. The story was given out by a Kansas City man here, who is an old acquaintance of Shawn's, the two attending school in Kansas City.

"Mr. Shawn is the first man I ever loved," Miss St. Denis said. Mr. Shawn is leading man in Miss St. Denis' company.

WEATHER

Temperature ranges yesterday. High, 56. Low, 32. Precipitation, 0.

Forecast for La Crosse and vicinity: Fair tonight and Saturday; warmer.

For Wisconsin: Fair tonight and Saturday with rising temperature; southerly winds becoming fresh Saturday.

For Minnesota: Fair tonight and Saturday; warmer tonight; fresh southerly winds.

For Iowa: Fair tonight and Saturday; warmer tonight and east and central portions Saturday.

Weather Conditions

Light rain has fallen during the past 24 hours from the lake region to the north Atlantic coast, in the southwest and in the north Pacific states and cloudy weather prevails in these sections this morning and clear weather in all other sections.

The temperature changes have been small as a rule but is somewhat higher in the northwest. A storm center is moving off the north Atlantic coast while another depression is developing in Alberta. The pressure is highest over the southern states.

The weather will be fair in this section tonight and probably Saturday with higher temperature.

Fair Warning

A brazen-lunged newsboy in a western city has been having a good deal of fun at the expense of the wearers of freakish skirts. His method has the simplicity of genius. As his victim goes by she is startled to hear a loud cry: "Git out of town!" Her indignant look brings a repetition of the cry, with a slight addition which does not altogether propitiate her: "Git out of town—papa!"

Six Hundred and Fifty Instructors from Western Wisconsin Gather at Normal Today

That two per cent of the pupils in the public schools are abnormal and that many are on the borderland between normal and abnormal, was the statement this morning of Prof. Joseph Jastrow of the University of Wisconsin in an address before 650 members of the Western Wisconsin Teachers' association in session at the state normal school.

The speaker explained that the term abnormal is often misused and that a child with a so-called abnormal mind in most instances is merely different from the average.

That dullness and seeming stupidity is rarely understood by teachers and that a thorough understanding of these defects in the child will result in better students was another assertion of Prof. Jastrow.

On the theory that everyone is ruled by emotions and that fear is paramount among students at "quiz" time, the university man advocated the abolition of examinations.

Fear Grips Students

"Many students, who under normal conditions could pass even the most difficult examination with flying colors, often secure poor marks because of the element of fear that comes with facing a quiz upon which their promotion depends," he argued. The chief interest of the parent in the public school, Attorney John E. McConnell told the teachers, is to have that institution fit the child for life.

He maintained that the day is not far distant when this country will adopt the vocational educational system now in vogue in Germany.

He praised the attention paid in La Crosse to the physical welfare of the student and urged the teaching of English and mathematics above all other subjects.

Should Teach Poetry

A plea was also made for now almost obsolete system of having the child get before the class and "say his piece." The training is excellent, he maintained, and in the child is given some knowledge of the best in poetry.

"The child is not naturally thoughtful and the teachers must play their part in teaching him punctuality, respect of the law and, above all else, self respect."

Professor A. H. Sanford of the La Crosse normal school, speaking on "The School and the War," struck a topic which is near the hearts of many teachers.

Current Events Popular

He pointed to the great opportunity teachers have of using topics connected with the present war in connection with the regular class room work in history, geography and English. In general exercises, also, the subject may be so presented that pupils will not only get ideas as to the conditions that made the war possible, but will also gain deep impressions of the horror and brutality involved. Above all, they may be given the American idea of patriotism, based upon generosity and forbearance in our conduct in international affairs.

Musical Program

The following musical program was rendered between addresses this morning:

"Quietude" and "The Song of the Boatman," by the high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Ida MacLean.

"Ho, Jolly Jenkin," by the Boys' Glee club of the La Crosse high school.

"O Wert Thou in the Cauld Blast," the Girls' Glee club of the La Crosse high school.

Entertainment Tonight

Tonight's program of the convention will be purely one of entertainment.

Elias Day will feature the evening with four impersonations. They will be "A Kipling Picture," "A Southern Pastel," "An Irish Etching" and "An Italian Painting."

All will be done in costume, and the changing is a real novelty; no long tedious waits, but with a rapidity that is novel and entertaining.

Miss Winifred Forbes and Harry Marshall will sing the duets, "Rose of My Heart" and "It Was a Lover and His Lass."

Removing Tar Stains

To remove tar stains rub the spot first with lard and then with soap. Leave for an hour and then wash in hot water softened with ammonia. If traces still remain, rub with turpentine.

The Alternatives

"I've got to choose between paying my doctor and keeping up my life insurance policy; I haven't enough money for both." "Stand off the M. D.; if your policy lapses you'll die sure."

ANIMATED BEAN POLE THEY CALL BOLAND

Mike Boland

Long, lean and lank, an animated bean pole capable of thinking, quick as a flash on spindle-like legs, and arms that work with the rapidity of piston-rods in action—that's the description which fits Mike Boland, Princeton's strange phenomenon who plays in the back field.

STREET CAR AND AUTO IN COLLISION

Running west on King street at 7:45 this morning, an automobile owned by Joseph Hirt collided with a street car running north. William Brunke was the motorman on the street car. The fender of the automobile was bent and the front of the street car was slightly damaged, but no material harm was done to either the machine or the street car.

Good Sanitary Job

Six-year-old Sherwood was boasting that he was working in a blacksmith shop. "What do you do there?" Shoe horses?" he was asked. "No!" he answered promptly, "I shoe flies."

HUSBAND PRISONED WIFE TO ASYLUM

Extraordinary Story Is Told by Chicago Woman Held Sane by Court

FOUND ARSENIC IN HIS FOOD

Husband Then Has His Wife Committed to Psychopathic Hospital for Observation

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Florence
Morrow Raymond, wife of a chemical manufacturer, was today released from a padded cell in a hospital, to which she asserted she was carried after being "kidnaped," on a writ of habeas corpus granted by Judge Owens.

County Physician Davis, who examined Mrs. Raymond at the hospital, told Judge Owens she was perfectly sane and he was a loss to understand why she should be detained. The court ordered the woman released after hearing from her own lips the extraordinary story leading up to her detention.

Jules N. Raymond, her husband, is at the Columbus hospital, where it is said he is suffering from arsenical poisoning. According to his wife's story, an analysis of his food showed the presence of large quantities of arsenic. Almost immediately after this discovery was made, she was "kidnaped," she says, and rushed to the hospital for a sanity investigation on commitment papers procured by her husband.

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 30.—In the interest of the progressive candidates of the counties embracing the Fourth congressional district, Col.
Theodore Roosevelt is scheduled to arrive here this afternoon and address the voters of this city.

The Second Regiment Armory is to be the scene of the meeting and in view of the fact that this will be the first appearance of the colonel in Trenton since 1912, it was anticipated this morning that a great throng of listeners, representing all parties, would turn out this afternoon to hear what he has to say.

SCHOOL HEAD GETS JAIL TERM FOR DENYING RIGHT TO ORGANIZE

Cleveland Case Victory for Teachers in Several Other Cities Who are Fighting for Right to Organize

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Oct. 30.—J.
M. H. Frederick, Cleveland public school superintendent, was today sentenced to ten days in jail and fined $500 by Judge W. B. Neff, for contempt of court in dismissing six school teachers, active in forming a teachers' union, in disregard of a court injunction.

This is the first time a school superintendent has ever given a jail sentence for such an offense. The sentence imposed was the maximum under the contempt statute.

The outcome of the case is a victory for organized labor. Teachers in other cities are fighting for the right to organize.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO COUNTY COURT.

State of Wisconsin, County Court,

REFUSES TO SHOW JURY KNEE—WINS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Although she "held out" on a jury and refused to show her knee, the heroine of contention in a personal injury suit against a street railway company, Miss Loretta M. Lanahan today had a $6,000 verdict in her favor.

Ancient Gateways.

In days when cities were walled about for purposes of defense against an enemy, most of the masters of the people being marauders and brigands, there were real gates, by which it meant tremendous doors of solid oak built within stone walls which were indestructible by any weapons of those times. The ancient gates were built in the walls of cities at those points where the chief highways centered and on which an enemy would surely try to make his attack.

GOLD GONE! HEAD CLEAR AND NOSE OPEN—IT'S FINE!

"Pape's Cold Compound" ends colds and grippe in a few hours

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until you have taken three doses, then all gripe misery goes and your cold will be broken.
It promptly opens your clogged-up running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling. Ease your throbb-ing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.

EXPECT CATTLE QUARANTINE

ADRIAN, Mich., Oct. 30.—A cattle quarantine covering the entire state of Michigan and parts of Indiana was believed a possibility within the next few days, following the action of state and federal authorities in proclaiming Lenawee and Monroe counties under quarantine because of the discovery of a herd at Blissfield infected with the hoof and mouth disease.

ALDERMAN ACQUITTED

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 30.—Acquittal of Alderman Thomas E.
Glinnan on a charge of accepting a $1,000 bribe for his vote on certain Wabash railroad petitions before the Detroit city council, will not bring absolution to eight other councilmen under indictment for similar offenses. Prosecutor Frazer today announced that the bribery and conspiracy cases against the other aldermen would be immediately brought to trial.

INSANE PATIENTS ESCAPE

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—With unusual ingenuity, Miss Annie Veath, insane patient at Dunning State hospital, fashioned a key out of a scrap of tin she found on the grounds, unlocked the door to a cottage today and escaped with two other inmates.
All three were captured by the Chicago police.

Switzerland's Hotels.

The capital invested in Swiss hotels, according to the latest figures, amounts to over $200,000,000, while the average annual gross profits are estimated at $50,000,000. The report shows that a number of the biggest hotels are controlled by large companies, which form a kind of trust, in which there is a large proportion of foreign capital invested. There are 43,000 hotel servants in Switzerland, most of whom are very well paid.

Flag of Belgium.

The Belgian flag perpetuates the colors of the duchy of Brabant, and was adopted when the monarchy was set up in 1831. The red, it should be noted by those who wish to use it correctly, forms the fly of the flag, the yellow the middle, and the black the hoist. The Russian Imperial navy flies the ancient blue saltire of St. Andrew on a white ground.

OHIO WILL HOLD IMPORTANT ELECTION

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30.—Ohio voters will go to the polls Nov. 3 to cast their ballots in the most important election ever held in the state.
Not only are the voters to elect state, congressional, county and judicial tickets, but they are to decide the statewide prohibition and woman suffrage questions.

Party questions have been shoved into the background by the "wets" and "drys" fight. The usual question of "Who's going to be our next governor" has been replaced by "Will the state go dry?"

THIEF DISCARDS NUGGETS

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 30.—Julius Helpt, 17, was arrested today on a charge of stealing a watch and chain from Frank Farrell, a broker.

Julius, the police say, did not like the looks of a dozen rusty looking pebbles that decorated the chain. He threw them in the gutter.

The "pebbles" were gold nuggets.

What Made Her Laugh.

Jean was warned by her parents not to mention the fact that their guest at dinner had an unusually large nose.
In the course of the evening Jean became convulsed with laughter. She was asked with fear and trembling what was the cause of her mirth. Her reply was: "O, I'm not laughing at your nose, Mr. Smith—I'm laughing at the plates on mother's plate rail."

Sexton in Hard Luck.

One of the healthiest localities in Australia, it is estimated is Lithgow, New South Wales, and this has been confirmed by the action of the local sexton, who has complained to the cemetery trustees that, owing to the few deaths, he is unable to make a living. He applied for increased salary, stating that since he took over the position he has only averaged $5 per week, and could not live on that.
The trustees refused the request.

CARE OF FLOWERS

When Jack Frost has visited the garden and checked or blighted the vegetation, the flower lover will consider what shall be done for the various plants and shrubs. Different plants demand different treatment. Such flowers as peonies and hollyhocks will come up again the following year if they are properly protected during the winter, while others like cannas and dahlias, which are more accustomed to warmer climates, must have their roots or bulbs dug up and stored in a cellar. At this season, many inquiries come to the United States Department of Agriculture regarding the treatment needed by different plants, and the department's specialists have given the following suggestions regarding some of them.

Hardy Perennials.
Hardy Perennials that are expected to live through the winter, should be covered with a good coating of manure or other litter to a depth of two or three inches.

Cannas, Dahlias, Etc.
As soon as the tops of the cannas, dahlias, gladiolas, caladiums, and similar plants are killed by the frost, the roots and bulbs should be dug up and stored in a cellar, where the temperature will remain about 55 degrees and should never go below 51 degrees. No more earth should be shaken from the clumps of cannas and dahlias than is necessary to remove them from the ground.

Geraniums.
Before the frost has killed the plants, dig up the geraniums and place them in a cool, damp cellar. This cellar should be cooler than in which bulbs are kept, ranging in temperature from 40 degrees to 50 degrees; in other words, such a cellar as is suitable for storing potatoes.

The plants may be placed in deep boxes, standing up and packed close together with a little dry soil about the roots. Geraniums are also sometimes hung up by the roots on the wall or cut off within two or three inches of the ground and the roots again planted. A loss of half the plants is to be anticipated.

"You have suffrage now as far as the Illinois constitution will permit," he replied when prodded for his views on suffrage.
"But would you help us get full suffrage if you could?" asked Miss Chester.
"Oh, ask me something easy—ask me my views on infant baptism," retorted "Uncle Joe."

M'GREGOR AFTER SEWAGE SYSTEM

Hear Report of State Sanitary Engineer and Start Campaign for Improvement

MCGREGOR, Iowa, Oct. 30.—At a recent meeting of the McGregor Commercial club, the report of the state sanitary engineer who visited the city last summer, was submitted with his suggestions and recommendations for the establishment of a city sanitary sewer system. Following the reading of the report, a committee of the Commercial club was appointed to circulate a petition to be submitted to the city council asking that an engineer be employed to come and draw plans and make estimates of the cost of installing sanitary sewerage. A large number of signers have been obtained for the petition and it is expected that a sanitary sewer system will be the outcome. The city is practically out of debt and the business men hope to make public improvements of a substantial nature the next year or two.

Belgian Thanks Helpers

In response to a cash contribution sent by two McGregor citizens to the Belgian Legation at Washington as aid to the war sufferers, has come a personal note from E. Havenith, Belgian minister at Washington, saying, "Please accept my most sincere thanks for your draft which will be forwarded to the government of my king with the names of the contributors. I much appreciate the sympathy which you express for my poor stricken country." A number of other donations from different societies and individuals have been sent from McGregor to the European war sufferers the past week.

Is Postmistress

Miss Anna Berry of North McGregor, sister of James Berry, owner of the Berry hotel at North McGregor, has been appointed postmistress at that place to succeed Mrs. F. C. Gilmore. The postoffice is on the Civil Service list. Miss Berry has been housekeeper at her brother's hotel for a number of years and well-known to the public. She expects to enter upon her duties as postmistress some time in November.

Forced to Abandon Boat

A party of five Dubuque sportsmen met with a mishap here Monday afternoon when the pleasure boat in which they were going down river ran aground on a sand bar. The rudder was broken and the boat damaged so much in other ways, that, after finally getting it afloat, which was not until morning, they were obliged to abandon it. The household goods were removed and shipped by train to Dubuque, and the boat towed up to the dock where it will be repaired.

Church Men Meet

About seventy men comprising members of the Congregational church, and invited guests from among the business men who are not affiliated with other churches were present at the informal get-together meeting given by the men of the Congregational church Monday evening in Odd Fellows' hall. Hon. George Cossen, Attorney General of Iowa, addressed the gathering on the subject of "International Peace."

The Chautauqua Lecture Course committee is engaged this week selling season tickets for the winter's lecture course program. The first entertainment will be given November 4th.

Personals

J. F. Widman and Sons have finished the contract for printing the county ballots. Fifteen thousand ballots were printed.
Mrs. Jennie C. Koop has concluded her visit with friends in town and departed Tuesday for her home in Schafer, North Dakota.

Mrs. Edna Moody, of Dayton, Washington, is the guest of her sister Mrs. Mary Moody.

F. G. Bell, Dr. John Webb, Frank C. Sloane and Carl Melhop of Dubuque are anchored in their houseboat near Lynxville this week on a duck hunting trip.

F. H. Allan has been in Chicago the past few days in attendance at the live stock show.

MANY REFUGEES

LONDON.—By Mail to New York.—According to a statement just issued by the local government board, six thousand refugees from Belgium are now being taken care of here. They have been sent to homes where individuals had offered to take care of some. The board announced that large numbers of offers from English people to care for Belgians had not been accepted so that it is not feared that the government will have any trouble in finding place for any more refugees who arrive.

LIKELY TO SUCCEED
GEN. WOTHERSPOON

Major-Gen. Hugh L. Scott.

During the extended Mexican trouble the burden of border duty has fallen on the shoulders of Major-Gen. Hugh L. Scott. There is an impression at Washington that for his services in that capacity he may be rewarded by being made chief of staff of the army on the retirement of General Wotherspoon on Nov. 22.

SPOTLIGHTS

Leveled to the caste of a servant girl, Florence Johnston is presenting a characterization in this week-end bill that carries a more potent appeal than any role she appears in. There is no doubting the sincerity that Miss Johnstone puts into her Mary Ann in "When Dreams Come True."

The very unusual but possible rise of an orphan servant girl to possession of a vast fortune is the chain of events around which circles the action of "When Dreams Come True," a play that will prove an old friend to readers of "Merely Mary Ann."
Wilson Steadman, as an ambitious composer, is of course cast at the head of the male roles. Given a more ample opportunity in this play, Marie Campbell reads an excellent interpretation into the lines of the English landlady. Janet Manshaw made her first appearance as Rose, the landlady's daughter at Lawrence. Sam Reed, Fred Shuster and Bert Stevenson amplified the remaining support.

The less some men know about anything the louder they talk about it.

LIQUOR MEN CONFIDENT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—In four more days the voters of California will decide whether the saloons, breweries and wineries of the state must go or whether California will remain in the wet column. The liquor interests are so confident that the prohibition amendment will be defeated that they are offering five to one that conditions will remain as they are now.

STOPS HEADACHE, PAIN, NEURALGIA

Don't suffer Get a dime package of Dr. James' Headache Powders.

You can clear your head and relieve a dull, splitting or violent throbbing headache in a moment with a Dr. James' Headache Powder. This oldtime headache relief acts almost magically. Send some one to the drug store now for a dime package and a few moments after you take a powder you will wonder what became of the headache, neuralgia and pain. Stop suffering—It's needless. Be sure you get what you ask for.

Don't Neglect

FASHION MAKERS MAKING BANDAGES

There Will Be No Paris Styles This Year; City Has Forgotten Them in War

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
PARIS, Oct. 12.—By Mail to New York.—This year there will be no Paris styles. Paris, mistress of the world's fashions, is thinking of other things. Most of the famous dress-making establishments are closed and the employees are making bandages for the wounded.

War, the great leveller, has taken the coquetry out of the women of Europe; war has frightened the rich Americans away; some of the men who designed my lady's dresses are now company cooks, midnettes are making winter underwear for the soldiers and the duchesslike models and salesladies are Red Cross nurses.

In the fashion-creating quarter of Paris, the steel shutters are drawn. The Rue De La Paix is well named; it is pre-eminently a street of peace. I asked the "premiere" of a closed Rue De La Paix dressmaking establishment what effect the war would have on the styles.

"It won't have any," she said, "for the very simple reason that there won't be any style. Under present conditions how can there be any style?"

Famine, pestilence, fire and flood may not be able to take away the desire to look charming—vanity, if you prefer—from modern woman, but this war has done it.

"It's because women are thinking of other things," she continued soberly. "Oh, we'd be only too glad to keep the shops going if we could. Do you think we discharged all our employees at the beginning of the war for nothing? The demand for style suddenly came to an end. When their men left for the war, women cancelled orders given previously, and refrained from giving orders already decided upon. She began to think of less selfish things."

More to His Liking.

Proud uncle, showing off small nephew of saintly countenance and seraphic eyes: "Johnny, wouldn't you like to be an angel?" Johnny, with cold scorn: "Not so long as there's a show for me to become a baseball pitcher."

Why Worry About Birthdays?

Don't start counting your birthdays; they don't really count. We've been confusing age with efficiency for too long. How far have you developed? How sharp are your faculties?

DESCRIBES LAST STAND

LONDON.—(By Mail to New York)

—Gunner B. Wiseman of the Royal Field Artillery wrote home describing the final stand of an English battery. His letter read:

"Our battery had fired their last round. The Germans were only 300 yards away. The order was given: 'Retire. Every man for himself.' It was a splendid but awful sight to see horses, and men racing for their lives with shells bursting all around them."

"The Germans rushed up and lay helpless. A German pointed his rifle at me to surrender. I refused and was just on the point of being put out when an officer saved me. He said 'Englishman, brave, but fool.' Then he dressed my wound, gave me a drink of brandy and left me."

When a woman goes to the theater she wants to have either a real good laugh or a real good cry.

READY FOR PARIS

ANTWERP, Oct. 30.—The absolute confidence of the German army in its ability to reach Paris is illustrated by the discovery in the pocket of a Prussian officer who died in a Brussels hospital of a manuscript

German-French vocabulary, containing the following in the two languages:

"Which is the way to the Place de l'Opera?"
"How far is it to the Moulin Rouge?"

"Is the Louvre open now?"
"Give me three chickens, two bottles of champagne and three bottles of very old Burgundy."

Uncommon Orchids.

The scorpion orchid which grows in Java is not by any means common in this country. A great many very odd shapes and colors are found in the orchid family. Hundreds of them grow only in tropical countries hidden away from the tracks of man.

Peculiarity of Lettuce Flowers.

Although many plants close their leaves and flowers at the approach of rain, lettuce flowers open their widest at such times.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—David A. Sullivan, convicted bank wrecker, is intermittently confined at Sing Sing, according to charges. If he possessed one of those rare and fabled "wishing carpets," he could not have been better off in his "imprisonment," if allegations made to Gov. Glynn are true.

Gov. Glynn has suspended Warden J. T. McCormick while investigating charges that the convicted bank looter was a "prisoner de luxe." The charges were that Sullivan had been made chauffeur to Warden McCormick and was permitted to motor luxuriously to Yonkers where he met his secretary and conducted the business clipping coupons and other little financial matters.

Latest charges are that Sullivan, instead of unrolling a "wishing carpet" would express a desire to see the bright lights of Broadway. Swish! and the convict garb would change to evening clothes. Instead of four dismal prison walls, there would be music and song and light.

Coming on the eve of the state and congressional elections, the charges against Warden McCormick have created a sensation through the state.

SHORT SKIRT STYLISH

The short skirt even when worn five or six inches from the ground is not immodest or shocking. And added to all this it is going to play an important part in the solution of the cotton problem. This is the gist of the "Style Bulletin" issued by the Fashion Art League of America through its president, Mme. Alla Ripley, today. The statement says: "Unmistakably, American women are rapidly adopting the short full skirt. On the boulevards and prome-nades it is becoming daily more popular. With it is coming back into popularity the cotton washable petticoat."

Why He Favored Left Hand.

Jimmie, aged four, was much inclined to use his left hand. One day he was busily drawing with his left hand when I said, "Jimmie, why do you use that hand?" He said, "Why, there always seems to be more machinery in that one."

CLUBS BAR TEUTONS

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The governing committee of the City Carlton club has issued a circular to its members intimating that "it would be an act of delicacy and avoid the possibility of situations of embarrassment, if those members who are of German or Austria-Hungarian origin, whether naturalized or not, should not frequent the club." Members are at the same time requested to "refrain from offering hospitality in the club to persons of such origin." Similar action is being taken by other well known clubs. One of the South London golf clubs has added the clause: "In no circumstances will they be allowed on the club premises or course."

Rheumatic Fever

In the treatment of Rheumatic Fever many physicians employ purgatives, but Dr. M. P. Creed thinks that a mild laxative is better. When the patient is bilious he gives calomel in small doses, one-fifth of a grain every hour until a grain has been taken. Then after four hours he gives the patient a half ounce of citrate of magnesia, with syrup of lemon to disguise the taste, or he keeps the bowels open with the mild laxative "Aetoids." The diet should be light and all animal food should be excluded as far as possible from the dietary. For the pain and fever he has found nothing equal to Anti-Rheumatic Tablets, giving two tablets every 2 to 8 hours as required. These tablets may be obtained from all druggists in any quantity desired. Ask for A-R Tablets. Unexcelled for Headaches, Neuralgias, and All Pain.

ON THE HOLLAND FRONTIER; BELGIAN REFUGEES POURING IN

Belgian refugees on Holland frontier.

Three hundred thousand refugees from Belgium have fled to Holland, where the situation is becoming so tense that the Hollanders fear the sudden great influx of refugees, coupled with the difficulty in obtaining food, will bring about a state of affairs with which the Hollanders are not at present prepared to cope. A few of the refugees, assured by Germany that their lives and property will be protected, have returned home. But other thousands probably will accept Holland charity for months to come.

MINE SINKS VESSEL NORTH OF IRELAND

LONDON, Oct. 30.—A dispatch to the Press association from Fleetwood, England, says that another steamer has been lost off Malinhead, on the north coast of Ireland, by striking a German mine. Lloyd's is as yet without any details of such an accident and it is believed that the vessel was probably a small coaster, as no big liners were known to be in that vicinity.

It is alleged the Times charged Burns with falsely procuring evidence to convict the defendants.

RAILROAD ATTORNEYS ARGUE FOR ADVANCED FREIGHT RATES

Appear Before Interstate Commerce Commission in Final Appeal; Decision Will Come in November

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—A host of railroad attorneys and officials appeared yesterday before interstate commerce commission for final argument of the new application of eastern railroads for a five per cent increase in freight rates. The arguments will conclude today. A decision is expected from the commission after its November conference about the middle of next month.

It was reported that the New York stock market will not be reopened until after the commission's ruling is made.

The railroad attorneys today went over in detail statistics of earnings presented at the formal hearings last week.

George Stuart Patterson, general solicitor for the Pennsylvania, opened the arguments for the railroads.

Patterson argued that the proposed advance in rates was just, reasonable and necessary to supply a part of the revenue which is lacking.

STEEL MAGNATE IS FULL OF OPTIMISM

Declares Opportunities for Success in United States Are Greater Than Ever Before

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 30.—Expressing only the greatest optimism as to the business outlook for the future and asserting that "the opportunities for progress and success in this country are greater than ever before," Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel corporation, and president of the American Iron & Steel Institute, addressed the semi-annual meeting of the institute yesterday. He reviewed the iron and steel trade, not only of the United States, but of the world, in touching upon the amicable relations existing between the business men of various European nations and those of the United States following the meeting of representatives of the iron and steel manufacturing industries of the world in Europe three years ago. In this connection, Gary mentioned the European war, and declared: "Without giving reasons in detail at the present time, I venture the opinion that the struggle for commercial supremacy was the underlying cause of the war, or at least had a decided influence upon its precipitation; that the question at issue relates to dollars and cents."

Discussing business conditions, Gary said: "As to the future I do not hesitate to say with emphasis that the opportunities for progress and success in this country are greater than ever before. If we can get out of the rut of antagonism, inconsistency, distrust, hypocrisy, individual indifference to the rights and interests of others, which seem to have prevented natural and legitimate progress during the past few years, so that the people generally will disregard personal ambition and will work together, joining hands, for the protection and promotion of the welfare of all alike, having a disposition to utilize to the best advantage the privileges which this country affords, it will be only a question of time, and short at that, when the United States will be firmly established as the leading country of the world. Times and conditions are auspicious."

AWAITS ELECTION TO SETTLE STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Administration officials were advised today that the coal strike situation is being used as a strong political issue in Colorado. Republicans are charging that democratic state government is weak and has turned the state over to federal officials. President Wilson's plans in the situation were carefully guarded. It is believed, however, that he is awaiting the outcome of election next week before taking the next step to mend the difficulty.

Some people are so absent-minded that they forget everything except themselves.

SUPPLY MAYTORENA FOR NEW ATTACK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Fourteen carloads of reinforcements, including guns, fuel and men, were at Nogales for General Maytorena, presumably to renew an attack, according to official reports at the war department. The garrison at Agua Prieta was also being reinforced, reports declared. Announcement of the selection of a provisional president of Mexico by the convention at Aguas Calientes was expected late this afternoon by the Mexican embassy here.

If there were only two people in Link Preston's town one of them would be mobilizing on his trail.

BREATHE FREELY! OPEN NOSTRILS AND STUFFED HEAD--END CATARRH

Instant Relief When Nose and Head Are Clogged from a Cold. Stops Nasty Catarrhal Discharges. Dull Headache Vanishes.

Try "Ely's Cream Balm." Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it—Apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone. End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lay awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.

DRAPERY DEPARTMENT

FARM ORCHARDS

Dig out every farm orchard in the state—except two dozen trees in each, take good care of these and you will have enough fruit for home use. More is a nuisance.

This is the advice of Secretary F. Crawford of the State Horticultural Society, who believes that the average farmer should not dabble in fruit growing for market as a side line to general farming.

Fruit from the average farm orchard is rarely of quality to command even a fair price because of lack of proper pruning, spraying, etc. Nor can the farmer afford to do these things if he is a good farmer. Better stick to farming and let the fruit grower, the specialist raise the fruit for market.

FORM PRISONERS' BUREAU

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—A prisoners' bureau by means of which information of sick and wounded prisoners of all countries is transmitted to their families, has been organized by the International Red Cross committee, at Geneva. The American Red Cross today cabled $5,000 for the work of the bureau.

ROAD CONGRESS MEETS

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 30.—The Northwestern Road congress, in session here today, selected Milwaukee as its permanent headquarters. Delegates are present from Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa, the Dakotas and Wisconsin. It developed today that the fight for the next convention city will be between Des Moines, Iowa and Grand Rapids, Mich.

Knockers are so numerous we sometimes think a hammer should be our national emblem.

FLAYS STEEL TRUST

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Characterizing the United States Steel corporation as a "colossus bestriding commerce," Special United States District Attorney J. M. Dickinson today completed his plea before the circuit court of appeals that the organization be dissolved under the Sherman anti-trust law. Thirty-five massive volumes of evidence were turned over to the four judges, who are not expected to hand down their decision before six months.

TULIP BULBS IN LATE FALL

Tulip bulbs that are expected to brighten the lawn in the early spring must be planted in the late fall after heavy frosts or light freezes have checked vegetation. On the fortieth parallel they should be planted about the first week in November, and farther south a little later. These plants should be planted about a month before the ground is liable to freeze up. Other "Holland bulbs" such as the hyacinth and narcissus should be planted at the same time as the tulip.

HALLOWE'EN HERE WITH BOOGEY MAN

Police Department Expects Small War Right Here at Home with "Young America"

"COPS" ASSUME THE DEFENSIVE

War Has Been Declared and Hostilities Are Expected to Be Resumed After Year's Peace

Gate posts, doormats, benches and practically everything that is left around loose tomorrow will be the "booty" of "Young America," if he follows the program of La Crosse of former years.

"General" Chief of Police John J. Webber, is marshalling his army of patrolmen.

"Young America" has already declared war, and hostilities are expected to start with the fall of darkness.

The entire force of city patrolmen, both night and day men, will be mustered at central police station for the fray.

"The army," is handicapped through the fact that their mobilization is not as thorough as that of the police.

"Battles" are expected to take place in every community.

Preparing for the war, people are taking in everything movable, having learned long ago that it was useless to resist attack.

Hallowe'en this year is expected to outdo any day in years past.

"Jack Frost" coming with a cold snap has added a tinge of enjoyment to the season, and Willie, Johnny, and even the older brothers and sisters are planning to be in for the fun as they individually look at it.

But Chief of Police Webber and the city authorities have taken a different view of the matter than many of the younger generation.

Many parents are lining up with his requests for a peaceful night, and will try and lead the young members of their families to look at Hallowe'en celebrations in a different way.

Semi-barbarous performances have gradually been dampened by these wise parents, although the "boy" still sticks to the set idea that this is one night in the year in which he is licensed to destroy property and raise havoc in general.

Many boys, though have deserted the "gate pulling" stunts for window marking pranks with grease and soap. This practice has been engaged in for several nights already in different parts of the city.

In every community, sane celebrations are being planned. Parties of different kinds are being planned by the young people, in order to offset pranks which are meaningless.

Masquerading the streets in Hallowe'en costumes will be in vogue to night as in the past.

FRENCH PRIEST LIES TO SAVE TOMMIES

PARIS, Oct. 30.—A French priest who lied to save four English soldiers who got lost from their troop is being hailed as a hero in a little village in eastern France.

The four "Tommies" reached the village late in the afternoon. The priest, realizing what it would mean to him if the Germans found him harboring them, took the soldiers in and fed them and provided them with a place to sleep. Not long after a band of Uhlans rode into town.

Assembling the townspeople the officer in charge demanded that they tell where the Englishmen were, as they had seen them enter the town. The townspeople all knew where the four soldiers were but they looked towards their priest.

In a loud voice, so that all the townspeople would hear, he declared to him, the priest claimed any knowledge of the English soldiers.

"They must have gone towards Paris," he said, and the Uhlans rode away.

OFFERS NATIVE TROOPS

LONDON, By Mail to New York.—"Ranjit," the famous cricketer, now the Maharajah Jam Samib of Nawangar, has emulated the Indian ruling princess by making an offer to the English government to raise, maintain and equip a force of 1,000 for service with the allies' army. In a speech to his subjects at Jamnagar, he said:

"You will be glad to know that I have placed the humble and limited resources of my state at the disposal of the empire by my letter to the agent of the government."

"I have promised to raise and maintain a force of 1,000 able bodied men to fight for the empire, to give 200 horses and fifteen motors over and above two squadrons of imperial service Lancers."

"Our duty is clear at this anxious time. Not that every man will be requisitioned to bear arms and fight but every man can help in mitigating the effects of war by continuing trade and commerce under normal conditions."

FORM PEANUT CLUBS

Peanut clubs composed of boys, are being organized by the Department of Agriculture throughout the country to promote the raising of peanuts. The idea came from southern Virginia, where clubs were formed this year with such satisfactory results that the department is making every effort to extend the organization elsewhere.

BLAME INCENDIARY FOR $500,000 FIRE

Flames in Lumber Yard at North Tonawanda, N. Y., Cause Huge Loss to the City

NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Fire, thought to be incendiary, which yesterday threatened to sweep all before it despite efforts of the North Tonawanda, Tonawanda and Niagara Falls fire departments, was still raging in the lumber yards of Brady brothers, at eight o'clock yesterday. Several business plants have been entirely destroyed. The loss so far is estimated at half a million.

The blaze started in the Brady brothers' lumber yard late Wednesday night.

At 12:15 p. m., fire broke out afresh in the Brady brothers' lumber yard.

Men are searching the ruins of the Adamite Abrasive company's plant for the body of William Mauth, 44, who is believed to have perished.

STEAL FOUNTAIN PENS

FOND DU LAC, Wis., Oct. 30.—If it's true that the pen is mightier than the sword, somebody has considerable armament today. Police investigating the theft of $500 worth of fountain pens from the store of J. W. Burnton last night learned that $100 worth of pens were stolen in Oshkosh the night before.

Office Workers Find Mate Ideal Drink

Physical labor is the greatest aid to digestion known. In lieu of physical labor, regular exercise should be taken. The office, store or shop worker who works with brain instead of hand and is denied the opportunity for exercise usually suffers from headaches, biliousness and stomach troubles.

Mate, the great South American drink, is a boon to those following sedentary occupations. Its action is stomachic and laxative and it is an extraordinary aid to perfect digestion, enabling the Mate drinker to get full value of every particle of food eaten.

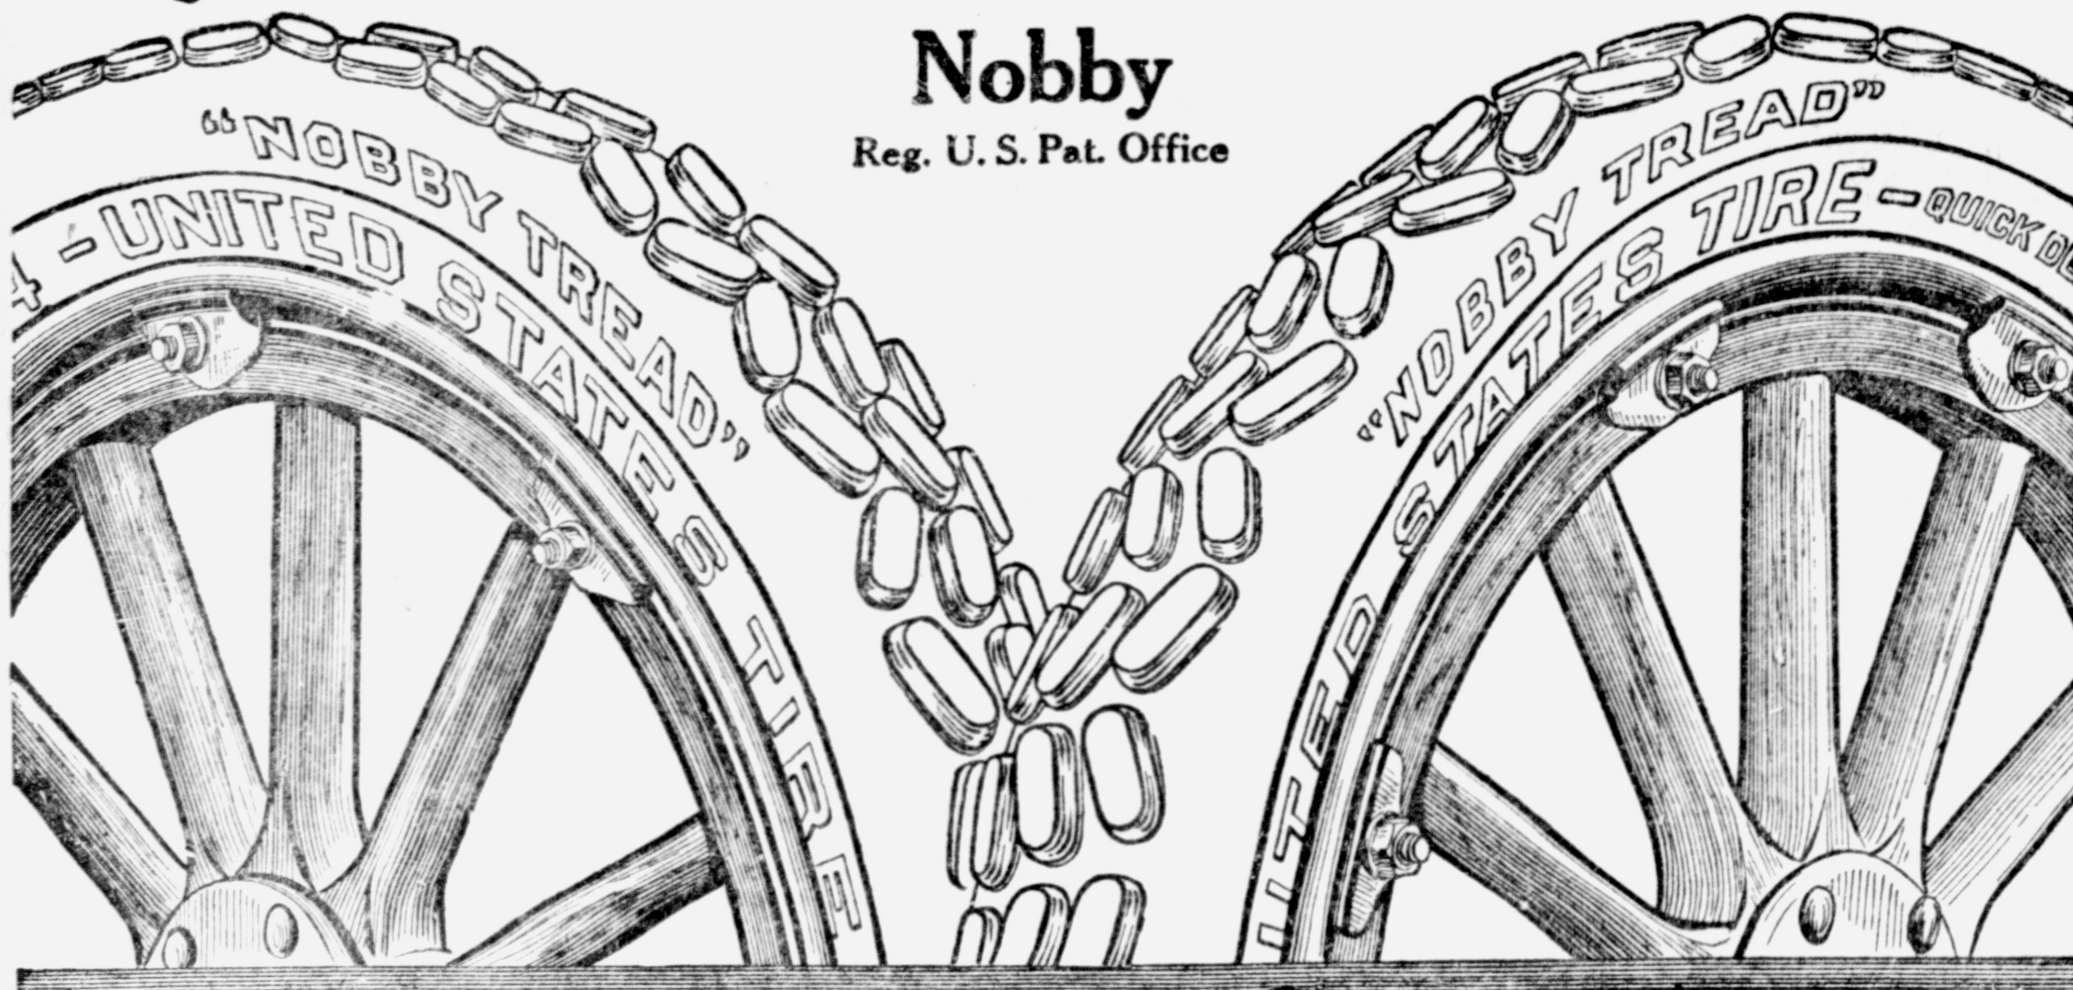

Aside from its healthful and wholesome qualities, the delicious flavor and taking tang of Woodley's Mate recommend it as a beverage for every meal every day. It is satisfying, strengthening and sustaining. It quiets the jangling nerves, refreshes and invigorates. Mate has been used by South American nations for more than 400 years, and is recommended by scientists, doctors and food experts.

Woodley's Mate is sold by grocers everywhere. It is easy to prepare; it needs only to be boiled and is a delightful drink, hot or cold.

BADGER MACHINE BADLY CRIPPLED

Chances of Victory Over Chicago Takes Fall;
Mucks and Schmidt
Unable to Play

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 30.—With the announcement that Jack Cummings, Wisconsin's stellar halfback, will probably not be able to compete in the game against Chicago Saturday afternoon, the Badgers' chances for victory received another setback. Cummings was injured in the Ohio State game last Saturday, but it was not considered serious at first.

It was announced today, however, that there is only a possible chance for him to appear in the lineup.

There was also some question in the minds of the medical attendants as to whether Ward Freeman, the other regular half, would be able to play. Freeman, who has been nursing a sprained ankle, has been in a suit the last few days, but his ankle is still weak and there is some question as to whether he will be allowed to start against the Maroons. With these two backfield stars out and a badly crippled line through the loss of Schmidt and Mucks, Badger enthusiasts admitted today that there is only a possible chance of defeating Stag's men.

The department of athletics announced tonight that the largest crowd that ever attended a football game at Madison is expected to see the Wisconsin-Chicago game Saturday. The advance sale has been the heaviest it has been for years, according to W. D. Richardson, assistant to the director of athletics. The new bleachers will make room for at least 5,000 more than under the old seating arrangements.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—A big mass meeting on the campus was planned by University of Chicago students this afternoon before the Maroon eleven boards a train for Milwaukee where they will spend tonight, going to Madison in the morning. Maroon supporters will not admit the possibility of a defeat by the Badgers.

JOHNSON MAY MEET WILLARD

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Tom Jones, manager of Jess Willard, today showed a cablegram which he had received from Jack Johnson, stating that the negro is willing to sign articles for a bout with Willard. Johnson stated that he must receive $30,000 and fifty per cent of the moving picture privileges.

The syndicate expects to pull the bout off in Mexico. Juarez has been proposed as a site and Southern California also is being considered.

SPORT NEWS

OLD CAMBRIDGE SET FOR FIGHT

Harvard and Michigan Rooters Ready for Battle Royal Tomorrow; Yost Arrives with Team

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 30.—A misty rain was falling here today, but with a clearing promised for tomorrow, a crowd that will pack the big stadium is expected to witness the Harvard-Michigan game. Michigan rooters are here by the carload and they certainly believe in carrying their colors. Harvard isn't far behind in displaying the Crimson, but on account of the new state law, whereby the carrying of red flags is forbidden, some are a little shy on their display. This law was aimed against the socialists, but it is now discovered that the law makes no distinction as to what the flag stands for. If it's red, it's red, regardless. However, the governor and several other state officials are with the Cambridge students, and probably Crimson will be found to be different from plain red.

The "hopes of the west" with Hurry-Up Yost on their heels practiced on the grounds of the Woodland Hotel, Auburndale, today. It is a far different aggregation from the string Yost generally carries with him, being lacking in huskies. But their practice shows they are fighters and the players themselves are hopeful of downing Haughton's men.

The final workout was given the Crimson eleven yesterday and today Coach Haughton will let up on them.

WINONA RESPECTS LA CROSSE TEAM

Coach Rowen's Men Realize that They Have a Real Game on Their Hands for Tomorrow

WINONA, Minn., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The Winona high school eleven will clash with the La Crosse highs at Athletic park tomorrow. The game promises to be fast and interesting.

After holding Tomah to a scoreless tie last Friday, the Orange and Black squad has been putting in long hours of practice and Coach Rowen has perfected a series of trick plays upon which he is counting to score against the La Crosse warriors. The games between the down river team and Winona have always been of the most desperate character, and this season's contest will be no exception.

Stiff practice has been on the menu for the La Crosse highs in preparing for the game. The team is in fine condition. The overwhelming victory over Grand Rapids last Saturday has given the down river bunch plenty of contest and they are out to win Saturday.

JOHNSON PREDICTS BIG BALL STORY

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—One big story, Ban B. Johnson promised today, will break out of the American league confab to be held here November 6, but he refused to be more explicit. "Matters past and future," according to the American league president, are to be considered.

It was pointed out today that in the past the annual meeting of the league has been held in December. The minor league meet in annual convocation in Omaha the week following and it was broadly hinted today that the older league was meeting to hand out reassuring words to the minors who have suffered severely by the activities of the Federals.

Is love an asset or a liability? Many a man's success, like that of an actor, is due to a good manager.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Thickness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

WALTER JOHNSON PEEVED AT RUMOR

Star Twirler of Washington Team Denies that He Is Numbered Among the "Hasbeens"

By HAL SHERIDAN
(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Ole' Walter Johnson, the big twirler who has been about three fourths of Washington's pitching staff ever since he joined that club, has gone back, the critics told, us last summer when several defeats were being chalked up against the Kansan's name. Well, if he has gone back we believe we'll hit the same trail after a slant at the league records for the season.

One is inclined to say "What dye mean, gone back?" after taking a look at the figure showing what the twirler did in Ban Johnson's loop. Johnson worked in just fifty-one games during the summer. It takes some time for the meaning of that to soak in. Fifty-one games. And the average pitcher thinks he has done a great season's work if he has breezed through as many as thirty contests. Naturally Johnson led all the twirlers in his league in that respect, the nearest to him being George Dauss of Detroit and Lefty Baumgardner of St. Louis, who each participated in forty-five battles.

Leads in Strikeouts

Now we'll take a slant at the strikeout column, picking it because Johnson's figures stand out in it like a white dove in a flock of crows. During those aforesaid fifty-one contests, Johnson sent just two hundred and twenty-one players—or persons drawing money as such—back to the bench mumbering that the umpire was blind or a robber or giving some other excuse to his manager for his failure to clout one.

In strike-outs, too, Johnson, naturally led all his rivals. "Dutch" Leonard, the big port-sider who heaves for Bill Carrigan's Red Sox, was the closest to him and he could not see Johnson with a spyglass. Leonard whiffed one hundred and seventy men during the summer.

In pitching few hit affairs, Johnson also looms strong among his rivals. Three times he gave but three hits, for times he allowed four and three times five were gleaned off his delivery.

Denies Report

Another thing that the early records don't show and that is the number of games which were chalked up against Johnson as defeats in which his opponents nosed him out by one run.

Toward the close of last season, when his critics got to panning him rather severely, Johnson finally burst forth one day:

"I don't see where they get that stuff I'm going back," he said. "True I've lost more games this year than I usually lose but if anyone has been following my work anywhere closely he will know that I'm not altogether at fault. I've lost a lot of games by one run this summer. I'm not complaining against my team mates. They're doing the best they can. I'm not done by a lot and I'll show it before they can count me out."

Charles Deal, of Wilkesburg, Pa., better known as "Chuck" Deal, utility infielder of the Boston Braves, is being hailed as considerable of a prophet since he took part in the recent world's series.

One day, during the world's series in 1913, when the Giants and Athletics were blazing away at each other a crowd stood in front of a bulletin board in Pittsburgh, and watched the game. Frank D. Glover, a business man of that place was in the crowd and he struck up a talking acquaintance with a young man standing near him.

"It must be nice for those ball players to take part in a world series," Glover said to the young man. "Yes, I guess it is," was the reply. Just about that time there was flashed on the bulletin board an announcement that Fred Merkle of the Giants had slammed out a home run. A great cheer went up from the crowd. The young man turned to Glover and said:

"It must be a wonderful feeling that a person experiences when he makes a great play in a world's series."

"Well, it's something that will befall neither of us," Glover replied. "Oh, I don't know about that," said the young man. "I have a good chance to get into one. I have been secured by the Boston Braves for next season."

"Is that so?" inquired Glover. "May I enquire your name?" "I'm Chuck Deal, of Wilkesburg," was the reply. And Deal made good when he got his chance. He wouldn't have got into the series if "Red" Smith hadn't broken his leg but Fate seemed to be with him. His double, it will be remembered, paved the way for him to score the lone run in the second game.

DE ORO LEADS MOORE
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—With but one more block of their match to play, Alfred DeOro, three cushion billiard champion, today had what is believed to be a safe lead of George Moore. The score now is De Oro 100; Moore 57. The match is for 150 points.

Cornell Expects Little Trouble from Holy Cross; Hinkey Shifts Yale Lineup

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Although Cornell expects small trouble from Holy Cross tomorrow, the coaches today laid great stress on three new plays worked out especially for the visitors. There was to be only light scrimmage preceding a long signal drill this afternoon.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 30.—Unless Coach Hinkey changes his plans at the last minute the Yale team that meets Colgate tomorrow will be vastly different in make up of the eleven which Washington and Jefferson defeated a week ago. Light scrimmage and signal practice was on tap for today.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 30.—No new subscriptions will be received after today by the Army athletic council for the West Point-Annapolis game, it was announced today. Applications to date exceed the 11,500 tickets allotted to Army for the game at the Penn field.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 30.—Glick's beautiful work at quarter in the tiring workout of yesterday has about decided the coaches to give him the running of the team in tomorrow's game. Unless Elerstadt soon recovers Glick, in all probability will remain at quarter the rest of the season.

AUSTRIAN STORY OF CAMPAIGN TOLD

Discussion Authorized by General Staff Says Retreat Was Strategic Necessity

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 30.—On the authority of the Austrian general staff a Danish correspondent sends the following resume of the present military situation on the Russian front:

"The general march of our troops to the new position (in the rear) was a strategic necessity forced by Russian numerical superiority, and by our wish to avoid battle over too extensive a front. The hostile press call it a great mistake and speak about panic in the monarchy, sedition and famine amongst the troops, and internal strife between our different nations. But the truth of the situation is the following:

"The German army, under General von Hindenburg, has already for some days been on Russian territory, and will shortly threaten Petrograd.

"The Austrian army has, with heroic bravery, checked the Russians' offensive for three weeks, thereby facilitating Germany developing her strength against the enemy on the west. Four-fifths of the Russian troops in the war are tied down in East Galicia. We have occasioned them tangible defeat, and captured 300 guns.

"Our having been able to perform such feats depends on our reliance on Italy, our dependence on Italy's faithfulness to her allies, in spite of the alluring tones of the Entente powers.

"We have, therefore, been enabled to leave our western frontier open, and withdraw all troops from there, so that the Tyrolean Chasseurs fight side by side with the Magyars, the North Slavs, South Slavs, Czechs, against the Russians.

"All these nationalities have fought with admirable loyalty, and the war has done more towards the strengthening of feelings of unity in our monarchy than all the years of peace together have done."

TEASDALE SAYS HE FAVORS GRIMSRUD

Monroe Senator Says Democrat More Capable than Henry J. Bennett, Republican

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 30.—Senator Teasdale of Sparta, who as chairman of the anti-vice committee of the legislature is here compiling the committee's report, has issued a letter to his supporters in the Thirty-first district advising them to vote for the democratic senatorial nominee, Richard M. Grimsrud of Westby, whom he described as a "capable attorney, a former business man, and now an active Norwegian farmer." He attacks J. H. Bennett of Viroqua, the republican nominee, as a stalwart, and intimates that after election he will prosecute Bennett for the latter's statements derogatory to Teasdale's record in the legislature. The letter also appeals for support for Blaine for governor.

SNOW BALL BRINGS MATE TO MISS MACK

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Being a good cold weather hurler for a youngster won Robert F. McCambridge, cashier of a Chicago bond company, a job as son-in-law to Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Several years ago McCambridge, a Philadelphia schoolboy, winged a snowball with such perfect control that it struck young Miss Margaret V. McGillicuddy, daughter of Connie Mack, behind the ear. She wept. McCambridge went down on his bended knees and then escorted her home. He called again and some more. They are to be married next Monday.

Conditional Acceptance.

It is told of the late Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson that she was much more interested in literature than she was in absolute order when it came to her housekeeping. A French milliner will make a hat out of a piece of felt and nothing; and a French official will make a diplomatic episode out of nothing at all, putting into five minutes of futurity all the Gallic civilization of centuries.—Arnold Bennett in the Century Magazine.

U. S. WILL TRY TO SET OWN FASHIONS

First Week in November to See Fashion Fete Made in U. S. A. in New York

BY MARGARET MASON (Written for the United Press.) American made for American maid. As a slogan is really first rate; So a Fashion fete smart. Next week here they'll start. That will settle our fashionable fate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—It will surely be some fete, but American designers and dressmakers and milliners are pretty certain to land with both feet when the home fashion fete is pulled off in our midst November 4, 5 and 6 at the Ritz-Carlton hotel. Maybe it isn't so much patriotism as it is desperation, now that the Parisian road to Fashion is closed to lovely women, that has caused her to start this agitation to boost American styles. Anyway, all the little Yankee Doodle milliners and dressmakers and tailors are too busy getting ready to prove their long sustained cry that they can produce just as good models as the Parisians if only the women would give them a chance to bother about the motive.

This gala affair which is intended to show Americans what Americans can do in the clothes line was started by a well known fashion publication and the list of its exclusive and moneyed patronesses has grown and waxed exceedingly strong. It numbers the names of such fashionably elect as Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. Philip Lydig, Mrs. Conde Nast, Mrs. Amos R. Pinchot, Mrs. T. Suffer Tailor, Mrs. Frederick Townsend and Mrs. French Vanderbilt. With such advocates ready to don homelown models, Mrs. Everywoman, U. S. A., are bound to follow suit—and hat and gown also.

Here's the idea: On the evenings of November 4, 5 and 6 and afternoons of the last named two days the ball room of the Ritz-Carlton, donated by the management, will be peopled with fascinating and charming manikins all dolled up in the latest creations of all the smartest and most exclusive—to say nothing of the most expensive—milliners, dressmakers and tailors of New York.

NEW CONCERN OPENS

A new machine shop has been opened at 316 South Third street, in charge of Mr. O. Wostal.

It will be of interest to dairymen in this vicinity to know that a specialty will be made of cream separator repairing and that supplies for all makes of separators will be kept in stock.

Mr. Wostal has been connected with the manufacturing of cream separators for many years and has had a large and varied experience as machinist, draftsman and superintendent.

Besides cream separator repairing light machine work, experimental work, drafting and model making will be taken.

True Devotion.

Little Katharine had a big dog which she loved dearly. One cold night she asked if the dog could come into the house for a while. Her mother said: "Yes; but as soon as he begins to scratch, you must put him right out." Later Katharine was heard to exclaim: "O, Bettie, don't scratch; tell me where it itches, and I'll scratch it for you."—Chicago Tribune.

Where Cloves Come From.

The best cloves come from Amboyna, one of the Molucca islands. They are grown also in Java, Sumatra, Zanzibar and in the West Indies. The clove tree grows as high as 40 feet. The ripe fruit resembles a small olive. The clove of commerce is the blossom which is dried by exposure to wood smoke and the sun.

GAS, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes. If your meals don't eat comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

SPARTA TO HAVE NEW POST-OFFICE

Government Is Asking for Bids on New Two-story Brick and Stone Structure

SPARTA, Wis., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The treasury department of the government is advertising for bids on the construction of the new Sparta postoffice. If the bids which are to be opened November 30 are satisfactory, it is very likely that the contract will be let very soon, and the work commenced early in the spring.

According to description recently given Postmaster Rice the new federal building will be a two story structure, built of brick and stone. The lobby will be the height of the building, while the rear of the building will have two stories, the second utilized for storing, and other purposes. The building will be erected at the corner of Court and Main streets, just across from the court house and also across from the public library.

MINES DAMAGE BRITISH SHIPPING

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The steam trawler Rosella out of Grimsby has been sunk by striking a mine off the east coast. The captain and chief officer are missing. The Ramsgate fishing boat Our Tom was also sunk by a mine and her crew of three lost. A giant whale, evidently killed by a mine, has drifted ashore at Margate.

Not What He Meant.

In a case in which a man was charged with cruelly ill-treating a horse by working it in an unfit state, a constable expressed the opinion that the animal was not capable of doing any more work on account of its age. A solicitor for the defense suggested that the horse merely required a rest. Magistrate—"Eternal rest?" Solicitor—"I do not mean that, sir."

DESERTED MOTHER AND GIRL SUICIDE

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—With their arms around each other, Mrs. Bertha Janney, 48, and her crippled daughter, Sophia, 16, were found dead today. They had ended their lives by turning on several gas-jets. Several months ago the husband and father disappeared after a family quarrel.

WOMAN'S VIEW OF WAR IS EXPRESSED IN STRONG CARTOON

War from the woman's point of view is expressed in a cartoon recently printed in an issue of "The Suffragist," the official organ of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, of which Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont is one of the leaders, and which has headquarters in Washington.

Miss Nina Alexander is the artist and her work, which has never before appeared in the public prints, is attracting considerable favorable attention. The cartoon, which is one of a series which she has just completed, is entitled "War—the Woman Dies a Thousand Deaths." Miss Allender is a Washington woman and has been identified with the equal suffrage work of the Congressional Union since its inception about a year ago.

DISCUSS EXCHANGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Sir George Paish and Basil B. Blackett, English commercial and financial representatives, returned here today and renewed conferences with a treasury and bankers' committee, regarding the foreign exchange situation. Some definite announcements of plans for reopening of commerce, including cotton shipments and settlement of American and British obligations will probably be made next week, it was announced.

SUFFRAGISTS WAGE BATTLE FOR BALLOT IN SEVEN STATES; SEE VICTORY IN AT LEAST MONTANA, NEVADA AND DAKOTAS

As Nov. 3 draws near interest grows keener in the battle being waged by suffragists for the ballot in Montana, Nevada, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Missouri and Ohio. The suffragists claim the first four states, and say they have a fighting chance in the other three. Mrs. Antoinette Funk of Chicago is their leading campaigner.

There is also much interest in the energetic campaign being waged by the Congressional Union to divert the votes of the women of the equal suffrage states from the Democratic candidates for congress in the interest of the proposed federal amendment. Among the suffragists campaigning in these states are Inez Haynes Gilmore, Jessie Hardy Stubbs, Miss Charlotte Whitney and Mrs. Mary M. Keith.

Rev. N. K. Larson Chosen for High Office at Conference of Scandinavian Baptists Here

Rev. N. K. Larson of Whitehall, Wis., newly elected corresponding secretary of the national conference of Scandinavian Baptists, was chosen general secretary for the United States and Canada at the business meeting held yesterday morning in the Scandinavian Baptist church at Logan and Charles streets.

Devotional services were conducted last night in the church which was crowded to the doors. Rev. A. A. Ohn, colporteur for the American Baptist Publications society for North Dakota and Minnesota, led the services. The sermon in the evening was preached by Rev. O. M. Jorgenson of Valley City, N. D.

The women of the convention held their business meeting and conference yesterday afternoon.

Rev. M. B. Holmen, pastor of the Danish Baptist church of Minneapolis, and vice-president of the conference, spoke this morning on the "Need of a Pastor's Union," advocating an organization among the pastors of the conference which would tend toward more co-operation and bigger results in church work.

Rev. L. J. Anderson, missionary for South Dakota, spoke this afternoon on tent missions.

Rev. H. M. Anderson, pastor of the Norwegian Baptist church in Berton, S. D., formerly pastor of the north side church, will lead the devotional services this evening. Rev. A. Tangen of Mangum, N. J., will deliver the sermon. Rev. M. B. Holmen of Minneapolis, will also talk at the evening session.

The meeting at nine o'clock tomorrow will be in English.

LAST LAP OF STATE CAMPAIGN STARTED

All Candidates in Whirlwind Finish; Milwaukee Center of Activities in Closing Days

Wisconsin politicians were entering the home stretch today. Aspirants for national and state offices set a fast pace but it was only a little in advance of that followed by the lesser nominees.

Senator La Follette, in advancing the interests of John J. Blaine, independent candidate for governor, today was hanging up a new record for cross country campaigning, leaving Milwaukee in the morning, he spoke in Hudson, Menominee, Durand, Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire, and was scheduled to reach Madison early Saturday morning.

Blaine himself, was content with a more sedate pace, making Oshkosh today and being booked for a single speech in Fond du Lac tonight.

Tonight is "Phillip night" in Milwaukee. The republican gubernatorial candidate will address a meeting in Plankinton hall, under the auspices of the Phillip club of Milwaukee. Judge Emil Baensch of Manitowish was to deliver a short address before the Phillip speech.

Judge Karel, democratic candidate for governor, spoke today at Clinton and Beloit and also was scheduled to address a Milwaukee audience tonight. Paul Hustung, democratic senatorial candidate, spent the day making several short speeches in Milwaukee.

Oscar Ameringer and Emil Seidel, socialist candidates for governor and senator, respectively, made half a dozen speeches in the metropolitan.

English Table Delicacy.

The Englishman's weakness for pudding and pie is attested by the fact that the great London fire began at Pudding lane and ended at Pye corner. Wine Office court derived its name from the wine traffic formerly carried on there. Lambert Simnel, the pretender in Henry VIII's time, originated the Simnel or mid-Lent cake, now a celebrated specialty of Hereford. The cake is made of flour filled with plums and candied peel. It is tied in a cloth and boiled for hours, after which it is brushed over with egg and baked hard.

RISLEY PLEASES LOCAL AUDIENCE

Japanese Troupe at Majestic Thrills Patrons and Is Generously Applauded for Efforts

Thrilling "Risley", comparatively new to local audiences, won big applause at the Majestic yesterday, at the opening of the new bill which closes the week. The program features the Kijama troupe of Japanese foot jugglers, whose work is difficult and well done. Their work is like the familiar barrel-kicking, but with a slim youth playing the barrel.

Vincent and Elliott have one of the familiar black and white singing and talking acts. Their work is pleasing, and they elicited good applause.

Bobby Boyle and company have an extravaganza tabloid, called, "The Demon, the Doll and the Fool." The act is most Bobby Boyle, although good character parts are supplied by Jack Allen, Myee Davis and Mercia. The act was a near-riot last night.

AMERICANS LOSE IN TURK SHELLING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Odessa was bombarded last night and American property was destroyed, according to a state department dispatch from the Petrograd charge today.

This information was based on a report from the American consul at Odessa. The amount of property destroyed was not stated. It was assumed by officials here that the bombardment was done by the Turks.

The message was dated at Petrograd at 8 o'clock last night and indicated that the bombardment had occurred on Wednesday night. There was nothing about the message to show whether any notice of bombardment had been given in advance.

SUSPEND WHOLE CLASS

PETOSKEY, Mich., Oct. 30.—Suspension of nearly every member of the senior class of Petoskey high school, including 15 girls and several members of other classes, was ordered today by the high school faculty. ENGLISH SOLDIERS SING IN TRENCHES

LONDON, Oct. 30.—"It's a long way to Tipperary" is all right as a marching song, but Tommy Atkins has several other melodies for fighting. One of the favorites runs:

"Here we are,
Here we are,
Here we are again,
There's Pat and Mac and Tommy and Jack and Joe (marines)
When there's something brewing,
When there's something doing,
Are we downhearted?
No, let 'em all come.
So, here we are,
Here we are,
Here we are again,
Never mind the weather,
Now then all together,
Hulloa, hulloa. Here we are again."

Another, very frequently heard in the trenches during the recent wet weather, is entitled "Better put up your umbrella when the rain comes on."

"Some of the Frenchies in the next trench who understood English thought we were crazy when our section started singing it, one wicked afternoon," said a returned wounded soldier. "Our officers laughed and joined in heartily. My but we didn't half want an umbrella."

TO HONOR SHIPS IN RECENT FIGHT

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The British admiralty has allowed itself to be swayed by sentiment, probably for the first time in its history. In memory of the naval action of Helgoland last August, the cruiser Arethusa, which took the leading part in the attack on the German cruisers and destroyers, is to have fixed in a prominent place a plate engraved with a couple of verses of the old song "The Saucy Arethusa."

"Come all ye jolly sailors bold,
Whose hearts are cast in honor's mould.

While English glory I unfold,
Huzza for the Arethusa,
Her men are staunch,
To his favorite launch,
And when the foe shall meet our fire,
Sooner than strike, we'll all expire
On board of the Arethusa."

And now we've driven the foe ashore
Never to fight with Britons more,
Let each fill his glass
To his favorite lass;
A health to our captain and officers true,
And all that belong to the jovial crew
On board of the Arethusa."
All the ships which took part in the action are to have the words "Helgoland, August 28, 1914" painted in gold lettering in some convenient place.

RAN INTO BATTLE BY PURE ACCIDENT

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 30.—Like "infernal music mixed with fire and smoke," is the way John Siateinski who just reached here from Russia describes the sound of gunfire that he was forced to listen to for eighteen hours while lying in a hollow place in a field directly in the center of a battlefield on which Russians and Germans were meeting.

Siateinski, who lived in America, went to Russia at the outbreak of the war in an effort to find his father and get him out of the country. He could not find him and he was returning towards the German lines when he ran afoul of a battle. He was in the midst of bursting shells before he knew it. He found a sort of a dugout which the Russians had made to support a field piece and he laid down in it. He said he laid there for eighteen hours while the battle raged about him.

"The noise was terrific," he said, "but all the shells passed over me and I was uninjured."
Siateinski, when the noise of the guns ceased crawled out of the hole and made his way to the German lines. He was arrested several times but finally managed to make his way through.

FASHION HINTS

Decidedly military effects in tailored garments and whole frocks mark the modernity of those last exhibited. On them appear huge revers, capes, collars and cuffs with flaring corners, and the vest effect, carried over from the summer's designs, is still very popular. Tunic, too, are as much in evidence as they have been during the past six months. They tend to be very long, sometimes squared off at the bottom, sometimes cutting off roundly and going up under a yoke effect, and braided brimming distinguishes the newest. The coat has become the important factor of the costume as the skirt it carries frequently displaces the tunic.—The Fashion Page, in Woman's World for November.

Kindly Thoughtfulness.

"How did you ever get the nerve to play the cornet? Doesn't your practicing drive your wife almost to distraction?" "No," replied Mr. Meekton. "She encourages me. She thinks that anything that'll change my ordinary facial expression is worth some sacrifice."—Washington Star.

TOM TAGGART SUES PAPER FOR LIBEL

Indiana Boss Asks $25,000 from Indianapolis News for Statements in Editorial

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 30.—As a climax to a bitter political campaign, Thomas Taggart has sued the Indianapolis News for $25,000, alleging libel. Taggart is democratic national committeeman from Indiana and is leader of the democratic party in this state.

The suit is based on an editorial that appeared in the paper at noon yesterday.

The editorial, according to the complaint, referred to Indiana under democratic control as the "Hoosier Carthage," and said: "We ask the people of Indiana to mediate on the shame of having their affairs absolutely controlled by Bell, Denny Bush, Ed Lyons, Sam Perrott, Donn Roberts, Tom Taggart and Crawford Fairbanks. These are the men who make up our Hoosier Carthage, which corrupts and debauches everything brought within its sphere of influence."

NINE MORE BODIES FOUND IN MINE

HERRIN, Ill., Oct. 30.—Discovery of nine more bodies in the lower levels of the Franklin Coal & Coke company mine at Royaltown set a fresh squad of laborers at work at the ends of the drifts in the belief that the corpses of still more victims may be found.
Workmen engaged in clearing away the debris stumbled upon the bodies of the nine victims while preparations were being made for the funeral of fifty other miners whose bodies had been brought to the surface.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD IN WEST

W. E. Reese, an old resident of La Crosse, died on October 8 at the Deaconess hospital in Spokane, Wash., of a complication of diseases. He was buried at Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Reese was born at Lowell, in Dodge county, in 1859, and came to La Crosse when a boy. He made La Crosse his home until 1909, when he moved to Spokane.

Surviving him are his widow, two sons, Ellis B., of Seattle, and DeWitt D., of Swift Current, Sask., two daughters, Etta Irene of Calgary, Alta., and Ruby of Spokane, and his mother and two sisters of Seattle.

MANY WHITE GRUBS

There is going to be an abundance of white grubs in 1915—more than in 1912 when they caused millions of dollars of damage to crops—according to a warning circular just issued by the Department of Agriculture. This statement is based on the fact that the June bugs this year were unusually numerous in northeastern Iowa, southern Wisconsin, northern Illinois, parts of Minnesota, southern Michigan, northern Ohio, northeastern Pennsylvania, and parts of Connecticut and New Jersey.

RECALLS COMIC TALE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—"Pigs is Pigs," the comic tale recently popular, was vividly before the interstate Commerce Commission and representatives of express companies when the commission opened hearings on new rules proposed, regulating packing and shipping of widely miscellaneous list of merchandise.

How to ship guinea pigs was one of the questions before the commission. Hasty transport of the animals is an imperative rule of the express companies.

Other questions involved in the hearings were:

Maximum weight limit for shipments of mice; standardizing value of opossums; how to pack duck eggs; protection of live crabs in shipment and treatment of shrimps (edible variety).

Regulations for shipping moving picture films were also before the commission.

As It Appeared to Her.

Mary, aged five, had been attending camp meeting for several days with her parents, and upon her return her little brother asked what it was like. "Oh," she replied, "it's a place where they have Sunday every day in the week."

SWEET POTATOES

The potatoes should be boiled on Wednesday. On Thursday morning they may be sliced and put in the greased baking dish in which they will be served. Cover each layer with a generous sprinkling of sugar (light brown is best), and dot over with butter. They should be baked in a moderately hot oven for from thirty to forty minutes, or until the sugar and butter melt and are in part absorbed by the potatoes. It is better to experiment with the dish, if you have never made it, before you try it on company.

Mashed white potato prepared in the following manner may be used instead: Boil and mash the potatoes, heating into four cups of mashed potato about a cup of hot cream or creamy milk. Season, heat until very light and creamy and heap the potato into the dish in which it will be served. Brush over the top with the beaten yolk of an egg and brown in a quick oven.—Heart of the House, in Woman's World for November.

"Whys" of European War Moves Explained By Military Expert

(J. W. T. MASON)
NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—11 A. M.—Turkey's participation in the Pan-European war represents the first diplomatic success scored by Germany since the crisis of civilization began. Germany's military victories apparently have been cleverly used by her diplomats in Constantinople to persuade the Young Turks that the allies will be defeated at the end of the war, leaving Germany and her friends masters of the destinies of Europe.

From the standpoint of Turkish statesmanship, the chance Turkey is taking represents, it is true, a gambler's throw, but that is the only remaining way for the Turks to rehabilitate themselves. If the allies win the war, the Turkish empire now will be thrust back into Asia Minor, while if the German armies are successful, Turkey will be herself again.

Judged exclusively in the light of German interests, the Ottoman rush into the war is a double triumph. It gives half a million reinforcements to the Germans, making possible a strong offensive against Russia.

More useful to Germany even than the Turkish armies in the field, will be the Turkish territory in the peace conference after the war. If the allies should be successful in the war, Germany may arouse the jealousies of the allied nations concerning preponderant influences in Turkey. The possession of Constantinople may possibly become the most important question at the peace conference, permitting German diplomacy to play on the suspicions of the allies.

Turkey's entrance into the war now makes possible Russian expansion to the south and the acquisition of a warm water seaport, open the year round. This is far more important to the Russians than the occupation of Galicia or East Prussia. Thus, a diversion may be created, not only keeping German eastern territory isolated, but also causing the czar to forego his united Poland ambitions for the greater project to the south.

Whether the Balkan nations will take up arms against Turkey probably depends upon the Turkish plan of campaign.

WARN AGAINST TURKESTAN

A warning to alfalfa growers to avoid the use of commercial Turkistan seed is contained in a Department of Agriculture bulletin just issued.

"Specialists" of the department have been investigating the comparative merits of different kinds of alfalfa seeds and have reached the conclusion that there is nothing to recommend the Turkistan variety for general use in this country," says the Department.

Rye Grass Long Cultivated.

Blaine Framer of Workmen's Compensation Law—Labor Record True Blue—Read Before You Vote!

Following is the record of JOHN J. BLAINE, formerly state senator, now non-partisan candidate for governor, as a member of the state senate dealing with labor legislation:

10. Bill 12-S, the Workman's Compensation Act. Blaine was a member of the senate's special committee that had this matter in charge and personally made the first draft of the Workman's Compensation Act.

The following extract from the proceedings of the 19th annual convention of the WISCONSIN STATE FEDERATION OF LABOR, held at La Crosse, July 19-22, 1911, indicates how organized labor regards this act. Mr. Fred Brockhausen, Sec.-Treas., in his legislative report to the convention said:

"The first law to be enacted was, the Workman's Compensation Act, which is now Chapter 50 of the Laws of 1911, but here I wish to remind you that the 1909 session gave this legislation its first real start by the appointment of a special committee. Its chairman, Senator Albert W. Sanborn of Ashland, SENATOR JOHN J. BLAINE of Boscobel, and Assemblyman Taylor Freye of Eau Claire (republicans) deserve special credit for their activity in the enactment of this law."

11. Bill 74-A, to compel publicity of agreements of employers with employees when complaints of unfairness are made and imposing a penalty for misrepresentation. (Journal 1062.)

12. Bill 39-A, to provide for an eight-hour day upon all state and public construction. (Journal 675.)

13. Bill 963-A, providing for safety devices, fire escapes and other provisions to preserve the health and safety of employees. (Journal 1179, 1180.)

14. Bill 526-A, to prevent children under 16 from being employed where moral influences might be questionable. (Journal 1144.)

15. Bill 25-A, providing for collection and publication of figures and facts relating to the unemployed in an effort to solve that problem.

In addition Mr. Blaine's active support was given to bill 875-A, to prevent the adulteration of dairy products; bills 562-S, and 563-S, to compel reports of accidents by railroad and other employers; bills 121-A, and 206-A, to prevent discriminating and rebating by insurance companies and agents and revoking licenses therefor; and to a long list of other bills for the public welfare.

One of the greatest services rendered by him was in beginning the investigation into the campaign expenditures of United States Senator Isaac Stephenson. The appalling revelations of that inquiry are recent history. (Journal for 1909, 73-77, 197, 198, 212-216.)

As the direct result of this expose there was placed upon the statute books of this state a Corrupt Practices Act with TEETH in it, so that never again will this state witness the effort at wholesale debauchery of the electorate of this state.

Through his whole record of four years in the state senate Mr. Blaine worked unceasingly for the public good. Compare that record with the work of his opponents.

WHITBY, England, Oct. 30.—The hospital ship Rohilla, enroute to Belgium with a party of Red Cross nurses and hospital supplies, has been totally wrecked off this port. The second officer managed to get a lifeboat over and brought the nurses safely to land, but 80 members of the crew and other passengers are still clinging to the bow of the wrecked vessel, which is still fast on the rocks. It is feared that all must be lost, as the weather is so heavy that lifeboats cannot live in the surf.

Seven bodies have already been washed ashore.

DIES TO WARM DOG

LAKE GENEVA, Wis., Oct. 30.—Howard Hippach, 19, of Chicago, is dead today because his pet dog was cold.

Hippach was driving his automobile near here and is believed to have released the wheel momentarily to cover his dog with a blanket. Farmers living near the lake heard a crash and found the machine overturned and Hippach pinned underneath. He had been instantly killed.

Hippach's two brothers were burned to death in the Iroquois theater fire in Chicago eleven years ago and his mother and sister narrowly escaped death in the Titanic disaster.

True Devotion.

Little Katharine had a big dog which she loved dearly. One cold night she asked if the dog could come into the house for a while. Her mother said: "Yes; but as soon as he begins to scratch, you must put him right out." Later Katharine was heard to exclaim: "O, Bettie, don't scratch; tell me where it itches, and I'll scratch it for you."—Chicago Tribune.

Instead of Enamel.

Kitchen shelves painted white are much easier to keep clean than if merely covered with paper. Instead of covering the paint with a coat of enamel as a finish, a coating of thin, hot starch does as well, is inexpensive, and will not wash off, at least so says someone who has tried it.

SIX MILLION MEN ARE ON WAR BASIS

This Is Information from Germany Contained in Letter Received Here by Albrt Kremer

VOLUNTEER ARMY BEING PREPARED

Kaiser Will Have Million and a Half More Men Ready for the Field in Few Weeks

That Germany has six million men on a war footing, and that a volunteer army of a million and a half is now in training and will be ready for the front in a few weeks, is the information contained in a letter received here by Albrt Kremer, from relatives in Schweidnitz, Germany. Schweidnitz is in Silesia, near the Austrian and Russian borders.

The reference to citizenship papers in the letter was caused by a letter sent to Mr. Kremer, in which he explained that he would not answer the German call to the colors because he is now a citizen of the United States.

The letter follows:
"Schweidnitz, Sept. 17, 1914.
"Dear Marie and Albert:

"Your welcome letter dated August 16 we received September 14. You need not send the original of your citizen papers, but a certified copy will suffice. Have you received the order of the 5th of August? The sergeant said they did this simply to preserve the regulations. The English have frequently stopped ships bearing Italian and American flags. You likely get war news with strong English flavor. We have now 230,000 prisoners, among them about 8,000 English. In East Prussia alone we captured 92,000 on the 31st of August, among them two army commanders and a numberless lot of arms of all kinds and horses. Last week again we took 10,000 prisoners of war. Our artillery has tremendous effect. At a distance of 12 kilometers we bombarded Namur so the Belgians forgot where they were. I am not afraid, for our soldiers are as brave as ever. I estimate that we now have over 6,000,000 men on war footing and one and a half million volunteers are to be had. The 'Landsturm' is taken up to 45 years. The volunteers will be ready to take the field within three or four weeks. One has to be very careful not to circulate wrong figures as this would be liable to bring punishment. In Schweidnitz there is not much change in prices of anything. Three years ago prices were higher. Our troops are all in enemy's lands and so the principal food consumers are gone. I am sorry for the poor French, as they have to take the chestnuts out of the fire for the English. We had a fine crop this year. If we only remain victorious on land, this is the main thing. England is the principal guilty party of this war.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO COUNTY COURT.

In re adoption of a minor called Ina Fredericks, to be Ina Harris. State of Wisconsin—La Crosse County—In County Court.

Notice is hereby given that at a special term of the County Court to be held in and for said County, at the Court House, in the City of La Crosse, in said County, on the third Tuesday of November, being the seventeenth day of November, 1914, at ten o'clock A. M., the following matter will be heard and considered:

The petition of Willard Harris and Minnie Harris, his wife, of La Crosse, Wisconsin, praying for the adoption of an infant now called Ina Fredericks, abandoned by its parents and who was found in the vestibule of Foundlings' Home in Chicago, Illinois, at 5 P. M. on the 27th day of December, A. D. 1906, being apparently at that time, two weeks old, and who was, on March 5, 1908, given and surrendered by Superintendent of Foundlings' Home to Chicago Industrial Home for Children. Dated October 22, 1914.

By order of the Court,
JOHN BRINDLEY,
County Judge.

of the Allies

CETTINJE, Oct. 30.—It was officially announced here that the fortifications of Cattaro have been practically annihilated by the combined bombardment from land and sea. Fort Wurmatten has been almost totally destroyed, its casemates and cupolas being reported in fragments. Fort Lustica is also badly battered, and the surrender of the port is expected very soon.

The Montenegrins advancing in the province of Gatzko, Herzegovina, have occupied the town of Jacko, the enemy losing heavily.

Austrian aeroplanes have dropped nine bombs on Antivari with little damage, and no loss of life.

Where Cloves Come From.

The best cloves come from Amboyna, one of the Molucca islands. They are grown also in Java, Sumatra, Zanzibar and in the West Indies. The clove tree grows as high as 40 feet. The ripe fruit resembles a small olive. The clove of commerce is the blossom which is dried by exposure to wood smoke and the sun.

Better Shoes for the Same Money

HERE ARE A FEW SIGNS OF GOOD TIMES TO COME

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 29.—

According to Thomas Grant, secretary of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, there is an unusual call for help from various big Washington business houses.

A. R. Anderson, manager International Harvester company—Business is picking up. In the last two weeks we have noticed a change in our line. The change is not only in our customers. The banks with which we do business are loosening up. They apparently have lost their fear of a tight money market this winter.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 29.—Byres G. Mitchell, secretary of the Detroit Chamber of Commerce, said here today: "There is a better business spirit prevailing here and a feeling on the part of our business men that things are going to brighten up very materially in the near future."

P. A. Lewis, Case company—Our business is growing rapidly. Farmers and dealers are opening up and spending the money now where two months ago they had started to hoard it, fearing bad times. The prospects are exceedingly bright for next year.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 29.—Biggest shipments of coal in this district for any month this year, appear in the September reports, which show 128,178 tons of soft coal were cleared away from Baltimore.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 29.—That there are millions of dollars available for pushing public works in Philadelphia and thereby alleviating unemployed conditions is the declaration made here today by City Solicitor Ryan. It is likely that Mayor Blankenburg will use his influence to have these works begun immediately.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Abolition and other medical oils heretofore made only in Russia, will soon be manufactured in the United States, according to the Bulletin, which has reached New York business houses.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 29.—That business confidence and better general trade is rapidly crystallizing in the northwest is the belief of L. B. Winchell, traffic director of the Union Pacific railway, who has just completed an extensive trip through that territory.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 29.—That lead has suddenly become an important factor in the export trade of the United States is shown by the huge shipments now being made by the Oregon district. All records have been broken.

ORANGE, N. J. Oct. 29.—That the United States will now be able to develop sufficient Kaolif clay for the making of fine pottery, thus meeting the shortage of such importations from China and Europe, is the belief expressed by men in the pottery business, based on the suggestion of John and James Dobson Co., Inc., in this connection by the United States Geological Survey, which recently investigated the matter.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Ground has been broken for the construction of the two new tunnels under the East river, which will keep several hundred men employed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Says the Evening World editorially: "The United States is going to smelt its own tin. Last year it sent all its tin concentrates to British smelters."

"The war cut out our supply of ichthyol, a mineral oil, valuable in medicine, found in the Austrian Tyrol. Somebody has looked around and found plenty of ichthyol where nobody ever sought it before—in fossil beds in this country."

"Patterson, N. J., is fired with ambition to outdo Lyons as a silk center. Why not?"

"There is no spur like necessity."

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 29.—Is business good in Cincinnati? The Chamber of Commerce reports the following signs: The Dolly Varden Chocolate company reports business for September 1914, fully 35 per cent in excess of that of the same month last year. Orders received so far for holiday goods justify an increase in the working force of the company from 200 to 400 candy makers from now until Christmas.

The annual Cincinnati automobile show, from October 30 to 10, was attended by 30 per cent more people than ever before visited a local motor car exposition. The officials also report more sales made on the floor, more prospects secured and more buyers from other cities in this territory than ever before in the history of the local automobile industry.

A shipment of a car load of sugar making machinery for Central and South America ports was made last week by the Blymyer Iron Works company, of Cincinnati. This concern reports a steady increase in the demand for their products from sugar growing countries.

The C. C. Crane Lumber company reports extensive inquiries from London and Canada. Collections for September amounted to $100,000, representing about 75 per cent of the company's accounts that are being paid promptly. Large increase in foreign business is looked for as soon as the conditions become slightly more settled.

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 29.—New city hall to cost $218,000 and Y. M. C. A. building to cost $100,000 are some of the "prosperity" indications here. Business is generally good. New department store and other minor private enterprises are under way.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 29.—An order for the war zone for 100,000 army blankets has been awarded John and James Dobson Co., Inc., of this city and as a result 1,000 employees have been added.

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

RUSSIA.—News that Turkish troops were shelling the Black sea ports of Russia was followed by stirring patriotic demonstrations in Petrograd. No formal declaration of war has yet been received from Turkey. The Russians have reoccupied Czernowitz, capital of the Austrian crown land of Bukovina, and are also declared to have succeeded in dividing the German armies operating in Russian Poland and Galicia.

FRANCE.—It is stated here that the Germans are again essaying the offensive in the north but so far they have made no material progress while at many points along the line, especially on the eastern frontier, the French are advancing materially.

ENGLAND.—News of Turkey's action is declared by high British officials to mean that Turkey in Europe will be entirely eliminated if the allies win the present struggle. Although Prince Louis of Battenberg has retired as first sea lord of the admiralty, King George, to emphasize the royal disapproval of the campaign of annexing a member of the privy council, has nominated him as a member of the privy council.

GERMANY.—It is emphatically denied that the Germans have invaded the Portuguese African possessions. The war office claims the Germans are still gaining ground in France and Belgium.

PRaises Bulletmakers.

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 30.—Cardridge makers at Kynoch's works here who were not permitted to enlist, were much cheered to receive a personal letter from Lord Kitchener saying that they are doing their duty to their king and country equally with those who have gone on active service.

AUTO ACCIDENT FATAL

FREEMONT, Ill., Oct. 30.—Fred Dahmes of Monroe, Wis., was killed, J. J. Schneider and W. F. Truckenbender of Monroe, were seriously injured and Henry Davis of Freeport, slightly hurt today when an automobile in which they were riding turned turtle on the country road near here.

Dum Dum Bullets

By Ford H. MacGregor
Chief, Municipal Reference Bureau, University of Wisconsin.

(Copyright, 1914, by the University of Wisconsin Extension Division)

What are dum dum bullets? The various nations involved in the present European war are accusing each other of using them. Is their use prohibited by the Law of Nations? What is there about them that offends our sense of decency and fairness in civilized warfare? These are questions which the readers of daily newspapers are asking themselves.

The dum dum bullet is a bullet which expands on entering the body. It was first made in the Bengal arsenal at Dum Dum, near Calcutta, India, from which place it received its name. It was used in Indian frontier fighting because of the failure of the usual type of bullet to stop the rushes of fanatical and frenzied tribesmen. The ordinary bullet of small caliber when fired from a high power rifle makes a small clean wound, even passing through bones without splintering them, but the dum dum bullet expands on impact with the body making an ugly, ragged wound, splintering bones, and greatly increasing the shock of the nervous system. Such wounds must be attended to promptly or they are very apt to prove fatal and are very painful indeed.

Modern bullets are usually elongated and are made with lead cores with hard jackets or envelopes, usually of steel, brass, nickel, or german silver. Expansion in the dum dum bullet is secured by perforating this envelope and exposing the end of the lead core. A common way of improvising a dum dum bullet is to file down the point until the lead is exposed and cut longitudinal slits in the metallic envelope. On coming in contact with any hard or firm substance the nose of the bullet flattens out in a shape resembling the head of an upholstered chair. Various nations have been accused in recent wars of using these dum dum bullets, although in most cases unjustly. For instance, it was claimed that they were used by Russia in the Russo-Japanese war, by England in the Boer war, and by Spain in the Spanish-American war. There was probably little foundation, however, for any of these claims.

As the purpose of war is to weaken the military forces of the enemy by disabling rather than killing or torturing men, the use of any weapon which inflicts unnecessary suffering, or which renders death inevitable, is frowned upon by all civilized nations, and is forbidden by international law. These principles were officially set forth in the Declaration of St. Petersburg in 1864. Thus poisoned weapons may not be used. Rifles may not be loaded with broken glass, nails, irregular shaped iron, and the like. Cannons may not be loaded with chain shot, nor can bayonets with saw edges be used.

Dum dum bullets, or bullets that expand or flatten easily in the human body were prohibited by special convention at the Hague Peace conference in 1907. The employment of such arms by any nation is contrary to the laws of humanity and of nations.—Extracts from the University of Wisconsin Extension's Correspondence Course in the International Law of War.

MAYOR TO ROLL THE FIRST BALL

Hizzoner Will Make Strike to Start Pins Falling at Mike Malloy's New Alleys Tonight

Mayor Ori J. Sorensen will slide the first ball down one of Mike Malloy's new bowling alleys over the town this evening, when the formal opening of the establishment will take place. Following the mayor's opening strike, the Eagles of the North side, and the Gunds, of the South side, will clash. The winner will challenge the winner of a match between the Listman Marvels, of La Crosse, and a Winona five that will appear for the occasion.

The alleys were used for the first time last night. They are the best provided by the Brunswick-Balke-Wholler company, and were installed by Hans Grimm, the expert who placed the first ten pin alleys in London. Mr. Grimm was in Berlin, installing alleys, when the war broke out, and the La Crosse job is his first since returning from Europe.

A feature new to La Crosse is the use of automatic pin spotters, which mechanically set the maples exactly on their proper spots.

The alleys are well lighted along their entire length, and a light just in front of the head pin throws the shadows of pins on each alley into strong relief. There are five alleys installed. Seats are provided for spectators, and lockers will be provided for regular bowlers.

Upward of 200 men and women are expected to witness the opening games this evening.

U. S. TO DEMAND SHIP'S RELEASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Protests against British detention of the steamer Kronland, at Gibraltar, and probably in the cases of other vessels with American cargoes similarly detained, will be made by the state department tonight or tomorrow to Great Britain, it was stated this afternoon. This government will ask immediate release of the vessel.

GERMAN PRINCE FORCED TO QUIT THE BRITISH NAVY

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Admiral Lord Fisher was this afternoon gazetted to be first sea lord of the admiralty in succession to Prince Louis of Battenberg, who was forced to resign because of the agitation against having a naturalized German holding a post of that importance.

Louis's crime was that he was born a German. The fact that he had served forty-six years in the British navy and had risen from the rank of cadet to chief commander by hard work, loyalty and sheer ability counted nothing in his favor when war broke out with Germany against the damning fact that his father was a Prussian officer.

AMERICAN FIRMS GET WAR ORDERS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.—The French government has asked a local manufacturer to supply enough shoes to run the army several months, according to information received here today. The order is said to total several million of pair of shoes. The officials of the firm would not disclose the size of the order. An order for $250,000 worth of harness for artillery was placed with the Purcell Harness company of St. Louis by the British government today, it was announced.

TOO MUCH GRAPE FOR BRYAN'S PORTER

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 30.—Joseph Jennings, colored, was a porter on Secretary Bryan's special train. The train left here Wednesday night sans Joseph. A policeman found him asleep in the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul baggage room. He slept peacefully in a cell until this afternoon.

"Grape juice," was Joseph's laconic explanation to the court. "All the time I was on that train I kept thinking about grape juice. I just kept a-thinkin' and a-thinkin' and when the train reached Milwaukee I just naturally had to have a real drink."

Judge Blenski suspended sentence on Joseph's promise to hurry back to his wife in St. Paul.

RAILROADS LOBBIED

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 30.—Attorney General Barker today was asked to file quo warranto proceedings against certain railroads traversing Missouri, to have the supreme court deprive the roads of their charters by St. Louis attorneys who declared they had evidence that the railroads had expended large sums seeking to influence voters to defeat the "full crew" law at the coming election. Barker told the attorneys there could be no action before election. He declared the roads had a right to seek to oppose the movement.

MEETING FOR BOYS AT Y. M. C. A. SUNDAY

The first of a series of meetings for the boys of the Y. M. C. A. will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. C. R. Bearmore, boys' director of the association, will conduct the meeting.

The meeting promises to be one of much interest for the juniors. A number of new records for the Victrola will be played for the first time at this meeting, and a story, "Willie Fen, the Handicap King," will be read by Mr. Bearmore. The story is drawn from personal observations by Mr. Bearmore of Fen, ten years ago the greatest of handicap bicyclists. The story is a vivid description of exhibitions of power and strength by one who rode from scratch.

Similar meetings will be held on the last Sunday of each month throughout the winter.

FADS and FANCIES of FASHION

EXTREMES are passé. It is no longer smart to wear exaggeratedly narrow skirts, to slit the skirt or to do any of those things that were brought into vogue a season or two ago. This autumn and winter are to see really beautiful costumes taking graceful, becoming lines and made of fabrics that are a delight in texture as well as in color.

Undoubtedly the basque makes the most important departure in indoor garments while the redingote and the cape are the distinctly new offerings for street wear but, as a matter of course, there will be variations without number and the practical suit with its coat of convenient length will take an important place.

It has been said that every fashionable skirt shows plaits or tunic or flounces and, to some extent, the statement is true. Almost every variation of the long tunic is seen and, with the basques, flounced and plaited skirts seem the real requirements. For the comfort of womankind be it said that thus far there is no indication of the basque's being tight-fitted or of compressing the figure at the waistline. The garment retains the semi-fitted idea and the straight lines that have become so generally well liked, but of necessity there are close-fitting plain sleeves.

WE have had open necks to the point of exaggeration. As might have been foretold, there has been reaction in that direction as well as in others and, while thus far there is no indication of the "choker" effect, variations of this idea of the high collar at the back with the more or less open front mark a great many of the newest and most interesting models designed for street wear. Within doors, we are likely to retain the comfort of the V-shaped openings to which we have grown so attached. Almost every fashion of the season may in a sense, be said to be a revival, for unquestionably designers are looking backward, but since revivals are never replicas, they are practically new and are undoubtedly replete with interest. The redingote is extremely graceful and becoming and the cape can be worn with consummate charm. The tunic has an unquestioned dignity. Altogether the general tendencies are admirable.

When we come to consider materials, we are met with such an array of beauty that it is a little difficult to know where the description should begin. Color is rich and handsome without being bizarre, blues, browns and conservative colors being favorites. Gabardine and serge are to retain all their favor for useful suits but there are new ones. There are stripes in wool velours, some in the same, some in contrasting colors that have all the qualities of real novelties and that are extremely beautiful when used with discretion. They combine perfectly with plain materials and some of the color effects are rich and handsome beyond dispute. Wool velours and duvetyne have been made in lighter weights, too, and there are wonderful mixtures of colors that give quite the effect of brocade. Velvet is to be a pronounced favorite. It will be used for entire costumes and it will be used in combination with wool and with silk. Silk is to be much used for street costumes and for indoor gowns. For suits, there are wonderful beautiful moirés, bengalines and poplins with some entirely new effects that seem to combine them all, such as crêpe moiré bengaline, which is just what its name suggests. Taffeta is expected to hold its own for gowns but there will be a great deal of soft satin used and, in addition to charmeuse, there is a new fabric that has all the soft, beautiful quality and, at the same time, a somewhat brighter surface.

Never has lace had greater vogue. We are to wear lace flounces, lace tunics, lace bodices and lace put to every known use. Chantilly, which is always especially beautiful in flounces, is in the height of style both in black and in white but we shall see a great many malines, a great deal of Alençon and a revival of the Breton laces that are always so pretty and attractive. Flounced skirts with basque bodices make exceedingly smart and exceedingly attractive costumes and one of the notable fancies of the season is found in a skirt of lace flouncing over a satin foundation with a basque of velvet and sash of velvet ribbon covering its lower edge.

It is even rumored that cashmere will be worn again for indoor gowns and every lover of the beautiful will be glad if the rumor is to be verified. Cashmere is a beautiful fabric that takes graceful lines and folds and seems especially adapted to prevailing fashions. If the powers that be utilize it to the extent that seems promised, it will add another to the already long list of desirable materials.

THE Polonaise model and the Moyen Age effect both are to be met. A very beautiful gown of charmeuse satin and broadcloth is made with a fitted basque that reaches just below the hip line and is closed at the back. To the lower edge is attached a full tunic open at the front, and both the basque and the tunic are of the charmeuse while the narrow skirt beneath is of the cloth, but all suggestion of severity is overcome by the introduction of the little chemisette of tucked white tulle and the clever arrangement of the sash. This latter is of wide velvet ribbon of the most supple sort and is inserted in the seams of the darts at the front of the basque just below the bust line.

FASHIONABLE COSTUMES SHOW TRIMMINGS OF FUR

By MAY MANTON

NEVER has there been a season of more beautiful fabrics or more beautiful trimmings. Velvet and all the imitations of velvet, both the cotton velveteen and the wool velours, are exceedingly fashionable. Braid is being extensively used and there are new wools with a satin finish. Every known fur is used as trimming. Not alone do we have all the familiar sorts, squirrel is dyed to give many novel effects and fur plushes are so rich and handsome that they are successfully used in place of the real skins. Soutache braid, both silk and metal, is extensively employed and also narrow cord applied over stamped designs and both wool and velvet are finished with the edges bound with silk braid, so that we have very great variety as well as very great charm. Wool materials are being extensively used in combination with silk and with velvet. Contrasting sleeves make an important feature of prevailing fashions and there will be worn throughout the winter a great many costumes made in what is known as the Moyen Age style, which means loose fit over the waist and a sash of girdle arranged at the hip line, but there will also be worn garments of snuggler fit and deep girdles suggestive of the Empire style, so that in style as well as in material, it is pre-eminently a season of variety.

Undoubtedly the tendency is toward wider skirts but these wide skirts are found when the tunics are not worn. Tunics flare generously but are arranged over narrow skirts and it is just that contrast that means their smartness. One of the models shown here shows plaited panels at the sides and that feature is both new and graceful. Another shows a tunic with plaited sides and both these models emphasize the tendency. With the tunics, short coats are correct. With plain skirts, long coats that give a tunic effect will be worn. One of the coats shown here includes the new feature of an extra back that gives a cape effect and the same cape idea reappears in the gown at the extreme right. This latter is made with a simple blouse over which the cape is arranged and, consequently, it can be worn upon the street with the addition of a fur wrap as well as within doors.

Color is rich and handsome. A great deal of brown is to be worn.

green is a favorite and there are new, quiet blues that are ideal for street costumes as well as the familiar ones.

SMART FROCKS for YOUNG GIRLS

THREE TYPICAL MODELS, EACH SHOWING A SPECIAL STYLE

PRESENT fashions seem especially designed for the younger contingent. They are especially becoming to girlish figures and they are essentially youthful in effect. Here are three frocks essentially different and each one charming. In two instances tunics are used, but deal of silk, we are also wearing a great deal of wool, and wool fabrics are light and thin and pliable. Velvets and satins are extensively used as trimmings. While enough vivid color is used to give picturesque effect to the season, quiet tones such as brown, teal, black blue, putty color and the

they are tunics of distinctly different sorts, and the third dress with a plaited skirt and full basque is quite the other two. Any girl who wears such variety is sure to be a great favorite.

like are such in vogue. Some of the new silks are really fascinating in texture. All the poplin weaves are smart. Crêpes are shown both in dull and in satin finish, and such materials are fine serge, gabardine and broadcloth are liked for simple frocks as well as for street costumes.

LATEST FASHION NOTES FROM THE FASHION CENTERS

BY MAY MANTON

IN spite of the warm weather that has prevailed recently, the display of costumes at Piping Rock has been an extremely interesting one, replete with suggestion for cold weather needs. October is almost universally a mild month and it can hardly be said that fur is needed but fur is fashionable and fur-trimmed costumes have been many. Long coats have been much in evidence and there has been a genuine interest displayed although, not infrequently, outer wraps were removed in order really to enjoy the sport. Long coats and short coats are equally favored but whatever else the costume lacks, somewhere and somehow there is found a generous flare and ruffle effect. Whether or not the designers have combined with the manufacturers to bring about a greater use of materials, the fact remains and full skirts, plaited skirts, circular skirts and gathered skirts all are to be worn. Circular flounces are worn and we are rapidly growing away from the straight, slender silhouette that has become so familiar.

One-piece gowns, or what might be called loose princess effects, make an interesting novelty. They were first shown a few weeks ago but already have gained in favor sufficiently to be seen in generous numbers at the outdoor horse show and, whatever the autumn gatherings of the season, they are relied upon as good style for the coming season.

A tunic is extremely smart and flared. Whether it is circular, whether it has plaited panels, or whether it is gathered may be a matter of choice, but one way or another, it must be made to stand away from the figure at the lower edge. Most of the skirts worn beneath are straight and narrow but there is a tendency toward increasing width even there and some of the new models are showing skirts with an inverted plait at each side seam while now and again, one sees a circular flounce, somewhat scantily cut, beneath a flaring tunic. But always there must be the contrast between the tunic and the under skirt to get the smart effect. It is in the one-piece gowns and the skirts without tunics that the flare about the feet is found and they unquestionably are gaining in favor but, even while making that statement, one is confronted with a number of new models designed for evening occasions afternoon wear and even for the street that show the fancy skirt with closer effect; consequently, it seems safe only to state that we are undergoing a transition stage and a great many styles will be worn.

An interesting, and perhaps somewhat extreme, example of the circular skirt is found in a Drecoll model of navy blue serge trimmed with black silk braid and bands of astrachan fur. The skirt is a plain circular one falling in ripples about the feet. It is edged with a wide band of astrachan and there are five rows of braid arranged over it but these bands are so arranged as to leave wide spaces between the lowest and the astrachan edge and a plain space above. The braid is wide and the five bands are spread out over the center. The coat is short, terminating a few inches below the waist line. It ripples very generously over the hips and is finished with a band of the fur. There are long close-fitting sleeves trimmed with fur bands and three rows of braid and there is an astrachan collar. Just a few months ago, we should have thought the costume extremely old-fashioned but to-day it represents the very latest cry.

Some of the so-called one-piece dresses are some of them made in the very long tunic style, only an inch or two of the under skirt showing but, in the newest forms, they are quite simple gowns of the princess order but loosely cut, falling in straight lines over the waist and hips, with skirts that flare freely about the feet and with sashes arranged at the hip line with a suggestion of the Moyen Age style.

We are drawing from many sources. We see all sorts of combinations. Dressmakers do not hesitate to put the styles of different periods together in a way to make something distinctly their own and, not infrequently, we hear the various periods woefully mis-called. A very wonderful costume, for example, that is made of blue and gold brocade and is richly and elaborately trimmed with jet is exploited under the name of medieval, whereas it is very distinctly Empire in cut and style and one not infrequently comes in contact with an error of a similar sort which, while not important, are in themselves misleading. For evening wear, no costume ever designed is more beautiful than the Empire and the costume referred to is especially beautiful in material and treatment, so beautiful in fact that it is indeed a pity that it should be mis-called. The real medieval costume is cut on the simplest possible lines and girded over the hip line. For occasions of elaborate dress, it is often superb in material and richly embroidered while for every day needs, it may be made of the simplest serge but essentially the lines are the same.

A beautiful costume exploited at an opening of today consists of a gown of soft creamy Lierre lace, the skirt of which is finished with a deep flounce and which is made with long, close-fitting sleeves. Over this gown is a medieval tunic of rose-colored velvet, sleeveless and absolutely plain in cut but embroidered on all its edges with gold thread and held by a gold girdle over the hips. The Moyen Age gown as related to every day occasions is often a very simple garment made in the one-piece style referred to above. One of the prettiest costumes showing a suggestion of the idea combines the characteristic cuirass-like bodice with a very full gathered skirt and clever dressmakers are doing many things of a similar sort. This particular costume is made with a bodice of crystal beaded net while the skirt is of soft shell-pink satin and is banded with velvet ribbon. Historically the skirt and bodice are ages apart but considered as a costume without regard to its suggestion, it is very charming and attractive both in color and design.

We have always known that the military influence was sure to make itself felt in many ways. Just now for the early season at least, it is more evident in the gold trimming and embroidery than in any other way. An exceedingly handsome costume of blue gabardine combined with black taffeta is made with a close-fitting bodice that is embroidered with gold braid in a manner suggestive of Braden-burgs. A very beautiful plain colored chiffon velvet shows gold embroidery on the bodice and again on the sash ends and the gold that is suggestive of the military costumes is constantly appearing in new and interesting ways.

NEW AND INTERESTING COATS

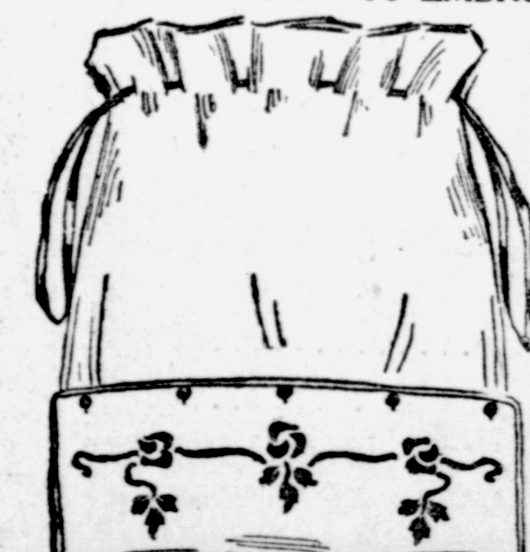

COATS of the autumn are always a subject of interest this year perhaps especially so since they are radically new in line and eminently attractive. The costume to the left shows one of the new tunic effects over a plain two-piece skirt. The coat gives the low waist line, suggesting the Moyen Age idea, and can be made just as illustrated or shorter as indicated in the back view.

The girl's coat with the flaring ruffle is a particularly graceful and pretty one and also an eminently simple one since it is made in the Japanese style with sleeves and body in one. The fur cape and fur muff make exceedingly interesting as well as comfortable accessories while each one is easy of construction.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO COUNTY COURT.

State of Wisconsin, County Court, La Crosse County, ss.—In Probate.
Notice is hereby given that at a regular term of the County Court, to be held in and for said County, at the Court House, in the City of La Crosse, in said County, on the first Tuesday, being the 1st day of December, A. D. 1914, at 10 o'clock A. M., the following matter will be heard and considered:

The application of Agnes Kienzie, executrix of the last will and testament of Josephine Kienzie, late of the City of La Crosse, in said County of La Crosse, deceased, for the adjustment, settlement and allowance of her final account as such executrix and for the assignment of the residue of the estate of said deceased to such persons as are entitled to the same.

By order of the Court,
JOHN BRINDLEY,
County Judge.

BALDWIN & BOSSHARD,
Attorneys for Executrix.

Rich Soil of Russia.

The soil of Russia is rich in ores of all kinds, and the mining industry is steadily increasing. At the present time there are rather more than half a million people engaged in the making and working of metals.

Chicago Grain Review

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—All foreign news was on the side of the buyers in the wheat pit today, the most important bull factor being Turkey's reported entrance into the war. Prices advanced sharply at the start and the market held the early gain. At noon, December wheat was 2 1/4c and May 2 1/8c above last night's closing prices.
Unfavorable crop news from Argentina and reports of heavy export sales boosted corn prices today and at noon the market showed an advance of 3/4 to 7/8c over last night's closing figures.
There was a good demand for oats on account of the bulge in wheat, prices going 5/8c higher for each month.
Provisions opened higher, but eased off toward noon.
Wheat had further advance of 1/4 to 3/8c this afternoon. Corn and oats profited by the further bulge in wheat, adding a shade to 1/4 in the afternoon. Provisions turned strong toward the close.

To the Wealthiest Man in La Crosse And the Poorest And Everybody in Between

Just as surely as your body is dependent upon food and sleep for its health, your financial well being depends upon the prosperity of the city you live in—La Crosse.

You simply must put your shoulder to the wheel for your own sake.

Buy La Crosse made products to keep La Crosse prosperous and for your own good.

Now don't say "Goetzmann is right but let the other fellow do it. I am only one out of thirty thousand. I don't count."

You DO count.

If every other man, woman and child in La Crosse depended upon the "other fellow" to do it—well—we'd all lose.

It's like an election—every vote counts—counts big. It takes single ballots to make a winning majority.

Now whether you are rich or poor or in between you owe it to yourself to patronize the industries of the city you live in.

If you're curious to know just how big a factor the manufacturers of this city are in its welfare, consider this—

The Listman Mill Co. pay out $150,000.00 every year in pay roll—practically every dollar of it spent in La Crosse.

1000 of the 30,000 population are directly dependent upon us for support.

$10,000.00 in taxes alone!

And when you get a pencil and paper and start figuring the pay rolls and the employes of all La Crosse industries—well—if only for purely selfish motives you're going to buy La Crosse made goods.

And as for value for your money.

Well—MARVEL FLOUR gives you more loaves to the sack.

MARVEL FLOUR bakes bread that retains the moisture—stays fresh longer.

And if you've seen a better looking loaf or toothed a tastier slice of bread than MARVEL bakes and makes I'll be badly mistaken.

For the sake of your own well being—for the sake of civic pride—try MARVEL FLOUR.

And—quality will bring you back for more.

Order that first sack today.

A. L. Goetzmann

Secretary and Manager,

Listman Mill Company.
